Date of death: 8 Mar 1906 Subject: Charles Amos

Source: Parnell [MO] Sentinel, 15 May 1906, Thursday, p. 4

Charles Amos was born December 25, 1805, and died at his home in Parnell, Mo., Thursday morning March 8, 1906, at 9 a.m., aged 100 years, 2 months and 11 days. Services were held in the M. E. church Monday morning, by Rev. Stoke and interment took place in the Parnell cemetery.

Charles Amos was born in Bedford county, Virginia on Christmas day 1805 where he resided until 1812 when his father was killed at Norfolk in the war of that year. A short time after his father's death he moved with his mother to Kentucky. He remembered distinctly the war between the Americans and the Britishers in their scarlet uniform. He often recalled the great enthusiasm awakened by General Jackson's victory over the enemy under Pakenham at New Orleans.

At the age of 18 years he moved to Indiana, and when the Black Hawk Indian war broke out in 1832 he enlisted and served until its close. He drew a pension as a veteran of that war. During this war he visited the present site of Chicago, the troops being camped for a short time on the shore of the lake. Not a white family was then living there.

He cast his first vote for Andrew Jackson but was a republican for many years prior to his death.

He came to Missouri in 1869 and he and his wife have resided in Parnell with their son Frank and family for the last seven or eight years. He has been married twice, and twelve children and a widow survive him. His mother was 103 years old at the time of her death. He has a sister who lives at Omaha at the age of 92 years. His wife is 78 years old and was formerly Miss Catherine Price.

Mr. Amos was a member of the Dunkard church which he joined when a young man and had remained in that faith to the time of his death.

Few people who saw Mr. Amos for the first time would think he was as old as he was. He stood erect, had a thick head of hair, which was only partially gray, and a fairly strong voice. He had a strong memory and could talk entertainingly on early happenings. His eyesight and hearing were somewhat impaired. About thee years ago he had an attack of small pox. His sickness was of short duration, being sick only an hour or two.

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch had a representative here three or four weeks ago who had a long interview with Mr. Amos regarding his long life which will soon be published together with his picture.

There were fifteen children in all, and of the twelve living Mrs. Mattie Bowser and another daughter live in Michigan, E. C. and C. H. Amos at Poteau, I. T., Mrs. Ella Hall and Mrs. Allie Hall at Council Bluffs, Iowa, Mrs. Anna Huntsinger, Osborn, Kansas, Oren L. Amos, Darlington, Mo., Mrs. Kate Martin, Lima Ohio, Mrs. Henrietta Ginter, St. Joseph, Mo., Mrs. Ida McCarroll, Ottumwa, Iowa, and Frank Amos of Parnell. There were but four children present at the funeral, as follows: E. C. Amos, Poteau, I. T., O. L. Amos, Darlington, Mo., Mrs. Henrietta Ginter, St. Joseph, and Frank Amos of this place.

Date of death: 20 Oct 1920 Subject: Mary (Andersen) Ivie

Source: Stewartsville [MO] Record, 21 Oct 1920, Thursday, p. 5

Our community has again been visited by the pale Reaper, removing one of our citizens who was loved and esteemed by all who knew her. While she was not one to make a big to do, yet she won many friends by her unassuming ways.

'Another hand is beck'ning us, Another call is given; And glows once more with angel steps The path that leads to heaven. Unto our Father's will alone One thought hath reconciled: That He whose love exceedeth ours Hath taken home his child. Fold her, O Father, in thine arms, And let her henceforth be A massenger [sic] of love between Our human hearts and thee, Still let her mild rebukings stand Between us and the wrong, And her dear memory serve to make Our faith in goodness strong.'

Mrs. Mary Anderson [sic] Ivie was born in Denmark, October 13, 1857, and passed peacefully away at her home in Stewartsville, Mo., October 20, 1920, at 1:00 p.m., a few days past the 63rd mile post.

When a girl thirteen years of age she came to America with her parents, locating in Nodaway county, Mo., and here she grew to womanhood and meeting the man of her choice, W. H. Ivie, was united in wedlock, January 3, 1875. To this union four children were born: Thomas A., Birt

P., and Mrs. Arch E. McCord, all of Stewartsville, and Mrs. Gilbert Crossan, of Wyoming, who preceded her mother in death a few years, and there is no doubt that the mother is now with those who have gone on before. For be it said to her credit, she had united with the church in her early life, having been baptized into the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ, and living faithful to her covenant thus made with the Lord, entitles her to all the choice promises made in His word.

She was devoted to her home and family and while she had not lived but a few years in Stewartsville yet she had made many friends. She had for several months been a great sufferer with that dread affliction, cancer, and underwent an operation in February seeking relief, but obtained none to speak of and in July her life was despaired of for the trouble spread rapidly thru her system. Thru all this affliction she never murmured nor complained, if things were not to her liking or taste she would say, 'Just set it aside, perhaps after awhile I can have it.' Never has the writer seen one any more patient under such pain and misery. She said she was ready for the Master to release her from her suffering, that she was ready to go and had no fears for all looked bright before her. And as she bore this assuring message to those that must remain here awhile, she further said, 'It will not be long until we meet again.'

While we try to look up and say 'Lord, thy will be done' yet it brings heartaches for the loss to our society and home of one beloved and whose memory will be cherished by all who knew her.

The funeral will be held in the church where she spent the best part of her life near Bedison in Nodaway county, conducted by Eld. S. W. Twombly of Fanning, Kan., Friday, at 2:00 p.m.

Few men in Maryville, if any, were more widely known and more highly esteemed than B. F. Anderson. His death occurred last Thursday at 11 p.m., at his home in this city. He had been in poor health for the last year or two with kidney trouble, and while he seemed to think that he would ultimately recover his health until recently, his friends have seen for some time that he was gradually declining.

Mr. Anderson was in his 54th year. He was born at Harrisville, Ohio. He moved from Ohio to Illinois, and came to Maryville about 25 years ago. He was engaged in the furniture and undertaking business. He was widely known over our county, and it can be truly said of him that he was a progressive citizen of generous disposition, kind to the poor, and will be missed by a large circle of friends.

Mr. Anderson served in the Civil war, enlisting in 1864 at the age of 15, and was a musician of Co. F, 170 Ohio Volunteer Infantry. He was mustered into Sedgwick Post G. A. R. June 4, 1885.

Politically, Mrs. Anderson was affiliated with the Republican party until the campaign of 1896, when he espoused the cause of free silver coinage and became a strong advocate of the election of W. J. Bryan as president. He never relaxed any in his adherence to free silver. In the last campaign or two he acted with the Democrats. He was a well read man, had studied law and even practiced some, having been admitted a member of the bar in Illinois and to the Maryville bar after coming here.

He leaves a wife and son. His other lives here and he leaves other relatives as follows: M. H. Anderson, Lesalle, Illinois, and J. C. Anderson of Corning, Iowa, and the sisters are Mrs. D. McLeod, Greenville, Illinois, Mrs. H. F. Price, Rawlins, Wyoming; Mrs. L. E. Throne, Chicago, and Mrs. E. M. Anderson, Marville. Mrs. Lena Leet is a half sister and Harry Anderson of Maryville a half brother. Two other half-brothers live in Ohio.

The funeral services were held at the home Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. It was very cold and disagreeable, but there was a large turn out. There were in line some 75 members of Magnolia Camp W. O. W., some 24 members of Sedgwick G. A. R. Post, and about that many members of the Knights of Pythias, to all of which orders he belonged.

The services at the home were conducted by Rev. E. B. Lytle of the First M. E. church, assisted by Elder Blanchard of Pickering, who filled the Christian church pulpit Sunday in the absence from the city of Elder Lawrence.

The procession to Miriam cemetery was headed by the Maryville Cornet Band, which played a funeral air. The pall-bearers were: From the W. O. W., Al Bingaman and W. D. Bishop; from the K. P's, Ed L. Andrews and John Howendobler; and from the G. A. R., Dr. J. N. Goodson and B. F. Pixler.

The W. O. W. conducted the burial services, George W. Partridge, C. C., officiating in the impressive ceremonies, assisted by A. E. Lyle as master of ceremonies.

The death of Frank Anderson removes from our city one of its useful and enterprising citizens and business men.

Democrat, 05 Sep 1884, Friday, p. 3

The death of Mr. John Anderson, of Rosendale, Mo., has left a sorrowful chasm in the circle where he mingled. He was loved and respected by all. After a short illness of about two weeks, he quietly passed away, leaving many friends to mourn his sad departure. At ten o'clock, Sunday morning, Aug. 24, friends were called around his bed to witness his dying hour. He fell asleep in peace in the nineteenth year of his useful life, leaving here a brother, an uncle, and an aunt to mourn his sad departure. His people live in Pennsylvania. What a sad hour it will be to them, when the sad news shall reach them that a son, a brother has gone to his long [illegible]. He can not, any more, return to the earth, but they can go to him. He has been a faithful member of the Presbyterian church for about three years. His funeral took place on the following Monday after his death, in the Presbyterian church, Rosendale. The funeral was largely attended. After the friends were assembled in the church the congregation sang, 'Jesus lover of my soul let me to Thy bosom fly.' The minister then read from 2 Cor., 5th chap., also Acts, 12:29-37. Then prayer for the blessing of God upon all, and His consoling power upon the bereaved family. Then followed the singing of 'Rock of Ages.' Text-- Acts 13:36.-- 'For David, after he had served his own generation by the will of God, fell asleep and was laid until his father's [sic] and saw corruption.' ²Death-- what is it? A sweet quiet rest. Milton's descriptions of death, as might be expected, are grand but terrible. 'I fled and cried out death: Hell trembled at the hideous name, and I sighed.' [Par. Lost, 11:783. And again, at hearing Satan's plan of tempting the race: -- 'And death grinned horrible a ghastly smile. To bear his famine should be filed,' etc. [Par. Lost, 11:843.

Our beloved brother has gone to another world, Which lies above us like a cloud, A world we do not see. Yet the sweet closing of an eye, May bring us there to be. His gentle breezes fan our cheeks; Amid our worldly cares, Its gentle voice whispers love, And mingles with our prayers. Sad hearts around did throb and beat, But the sweet helping hand of God was near, To cheer the faint and help the weak.

² At this point, the Democrat version ends, concluding with 'For David, after he had served his own generation by the will of God, fell on sleep and was laid unto his father and saw corruption. After the sermon the body was consigned to its last resting place. W.E.V.'

Shenandoah, Ia., Nov. 5.-- James Andrews, of this place, who died at St. Mary's hospital in Maryville, Mo., after undergoing an operation for tumor, was buried here Monday afternoon. Mr. Andrews had been a resident of Shenandoah for the last six years and during that time had been engaged in the fuel and ice business. He was a hard worker and in spite of his years, 66, was a strong man physically. Recently, however, his health had been bad and knowing that an operation alone could cure him he sold his business here, put his affairs in good shape and last Thursday went to Maryville, Mo., to be operated upon for tumor. The surgeons decided immediately after making an incision into the abdomen that to attempt the removal of the tumor would cause instant death and the wound was sewed up, word being given out that Mr. Andrews might live for years with the tumor. The effect of the operation was too great however, and while he regained consciousness and was cognizant of his approaching end,, yet the shock to his system caused his death forty-eight hours later.

James Andrews was a native of Ohio, born in Williamsport I 1836. At middle life he moved to Minnesota and there was married. His widow and six children survive him, Mrs. LaTourette, Mrs. Aldrich, Mrs. McDonald, Miss Edith, Walter and C. S., the latter one of the leading business men of Shenandoah. All of the children were present at the death bed and the funeral except Walter and Mrs. McDowell. The funeral was held in the Baptist church and was conducted by Rev. Mr. Sparks.

J. V. Andrews, the oldest citizen of Andrew county, died last Sunday aged ninety-four years and six months and had been enjoying good health and his mind was in excellent condition.

He lived to see wonderful changes take place. He saw and rode upon the first railroad train run in the United States with passenger coaches only large enough for six passengers. He saw Chicago when it was a mere village, and could have preempted the land where great business houses now stand, but thought the land too marshy to be of any value. His mind was bright and active to the last and he delighted in recounting his early experiences and he was very interesting.

His home was on a farm near Whitesville from 1869 until a few weeks ago when he was taken by his daughter and her husband to their home in King City. While he has been unable to walk for some time, because of a lameness in one knee, yet his health has been remarkably good for one of such advanced years, until Saturday after spending some time in reading, as he was a great reader, he complained of feeling ill, and at about 3 o'clock, p.m. Sunday, his spirit passes [sic] out of the antiquated tenement of clay and went to enter that 'House not made with hands, eternal in the Heavens.'

John Vermillion Andrews was born in Schenecteday [sic], New York, May 7, 1818. At the age of 19 years he emigrated to Racine county, Wisconsin, which was then a territory. After ten years residence there he removed to Rock county, Wisconsin, thence in 1856, to Waupaca county, Wisconsin, and in 1869 to Andrew county, Missouri, where he has since resided. On the 27th day of February, 1843, he was married to Miss Aurilla Saxton, with whom he lived happily for fifty-seven years, when she went to enter upon the final reward of a faithful Christian. Eight children were born to them five of whom survive him. They are F. M. Andrews, of St. Joseph, Mrs. J. J. Nelson, of Amherst, Wis., Mrs. E. E. Gordon, of Carthage, Mrs. C. G. Seamans, of Savannah, and Mrs. William Agee of King City.

About forty years ago Father Andrews obeyed the Gospel of Christ, and lived a faithful and active member of the Whitesville Christian church, one of its Elders for many years past.

On the 30th the remains were brought to Whitesville and Elder W. A. Chapman, a fast friend and former pastor, delivered a discourse and interment was in Whitesville cemetery, beside the grave of the companion of so many years. A good and useful man has finished his earth-work and gone home to rest.

Robert L. Annan, for many years one of the leading merchants of Nodaway county, died at his home in Oakland, Cal., Sunday, April 28.

Mr. Annan was born in Jefferson county, Virginia, June 15, 1845. He grew to manhood in his native State, and in 1872 moved West, settling in Nebraska. In 1876 he went to Barnard, Mo., and went into business with H. C. Annan. This partnership continued in force until about 1892, when H. C. sold to Robert, who continued the business alone until last fall when he sold entirely out and moved to California for his health. It is evident that death came suddenly, for Judge Vinsonhaler, of Maryville, received a business letter from him dated Friday, April 26, and mailed the following day, only one day before his death.

Mr. Annan was married January 1, 1878, to Miss Emma McCandliss. To them were born two children, Bessie and Robert Garfield.

As a business man Mr. Annan was a success in every particular. He was a strong Republican, but not an office seeker, although he allowed himself to be nominated for representative on the Republican ticket in 1886, but went down in defeat with the rest of the ticket, John Daniels beating him by a small majority. Since that time he had not taken any active part in politics. He moved to California last fall after selling out at Barnard, intending to take life easy the remainder of his life.

The body was brought to Savannah Monday afternoon on the Maple Leaf and the body laid to rest in the Savannah cemetery, after services at the Presbyterian church.

Wednesday morning, Judge Ed Vinsonhaler received a telegram from San Francisco, Cal., conveying the intelligence of the death of R. L. Annan on Sunday at his home in Oakland, just across the bay from that city. Mr. Annan had written a letter dated the day before his death to Mr. Vinsonhaler, which indicates his death was rather sudden.

Mr. Annan had been in the Mercantile business at Barnard for several years and was widely known, especially through the southern part of the county. In 1886 he was the Republican nominee for representative. He was born in Virginia in 1845. He was married in 1878 to Miss Emma McCandliss of Barnard.-- Maryville Democrat.

The remains of Mr. Annan were brought to this city last Monday and were interred I the cemetery here. The funeral services were conducted from the Presbyterian church by Rev. W. A. Cravens.

The Oakland, Cal., Chronicle gives the following account of the death of Robert L. Annan, who was buried in Savannah last week.

'R. L. Annan, a merchant residing at 1428 Seventh Avenue fell a distance of four and one-half feet this morning and broke his neck. He was out taking a walk before breakfast and while passing over the narrow foot bridge which affords passageway across the filled in marsh from the foot of Fifth Avenue to the boat house at Session basin, it is supposed he lost his balance and fell in. Nobody saw the accident as far as known.

'Annan had passed a restless night, having been despondent over the recent loss of money in business, and also being a sufferer from inflammation of the stomach. He arose early this morning and told his wife he would go for a walk. That was the last time she saw him alive. About 10 o'clock W. Richardson of 818 Broadway was passing the spot where Annan's body was lying cold in death and discovered the remains.

'The merchant had apparently been dead two hours or more. The body was removed to the morgue where it required an autopsy to determine the cause of his death.

'Annan was a large man weighing about 200 pounds. It is supposed that he pitched head first to the ground when he made a misstep. The wind was blowing strongly during the morning hours and that may have caused him to lose his footing on the bridge, which is only wide enough for one person to pass.

'Annan was about 57 years of age.'

Mrs. Grace Alice Melick was born near old Xenia in Nodaway Co., Mo., July 1, 1889, and died at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Applegate in Hopkins on Feb. 10, 1913.

She was married to Jesse Elwood Melick Sept. 14, 1907. To this union was born one daughter, Lola Belle and a son, Fred Elwood, both of whom survive their mother.

Her last sickness has been of some six months duration. She knew the end was coming and expressed to her Aunt, Mrs. Gamel, that she was ready to go and be with Christ.

Everything was done to alleviate her suffering that skill and human kindness could do. She is, we believe, with her Savior at rest.

The funeral service was held at the Hopkins Baptist church, Tuesday, a [sic] 2 p.m. conducted by the pastor in the presence of a large company of relatives and sympathizing friends. The floral offerings were beautiful and the singing appropriate.

Mrs. Melick's presence will be missed, not only in the home, but among hosts of friends in the community. The entire community sympathizes wit the relatives and especially with the husband and his little family.

Mrs. Libby's maiden name was Ardery. She was born at Savannah, Mo., May 10, 1855. At an early age she gave her heart to Christ and united with the M. E. church. She was married to Freeman Libby at Maryville, Mo., Nov. 28, 1872, and lived at Maitland until 1883, when the family removed to the Triumph neighborhood, where they lived four years, coming to Union in March, 1887. Mrs. Libby was the mother of six children, three of whom, Robert, Minnie and Fred, survive her. The other three, Sammy, Mabel, and Rose, have preceded her to the better land. She was a fond and loving mother; a true and devoted wife.

For nine weary years consumption preyed upon her system and her sufferings were intense. Yet she never was heard to complain. Her protracted illness drew her nearer and nearer to her family until, when at last her summons came to go, her loved ones found their bereavement almost unbearable. But although she loved them so tenderly, she was ready to go.

Husband and children, she suffers no more pain now. Neither will she be a stranger in heaven. There were ties that bound her to the other shore, as well as to this one. We can not call her back, but we can go to her.

When the hour arrived for the last sad rights [sic], many neighbors and friends gathered at the home to tender their sympathy to the sorrow-stricken family. Elder A. G. Alderman conducted the simple burial service, and the remains of the deceased were conveyed to the cemetery at Oregon where they were laid to rest.

It was a surprise to the citizens of Maryville when the sad intelligence spread last Sabbath afternoon that that Mrs. James J. Armstrong had died about noon that day. He had been up town at his foundry the day before, and seemed to be feeling quite bright and cheerful for one of his age. Sunday morning he got up about the usual hour, and ate his usual breakfast. About nine o'clock, however, he was taken with a chill, and at eleven his son, William, came up town after Dr. W. P. Moore, but when the doctor got to his place, Mr. Armstrong was dying, and expired in a short time.

The funeral services were held at the Christian church Tuesday, November 20, at 2:30 o'clock. A very large audience was present, thus attesting the great esteem in which Mr. Armstrong was held. Appropriate remarks were made by Elder James S. Frank. The scriptural reading was by Rev. T. M. S. Kenney, and a prayer, full of the balm of consolation, was offered by Rev. J. H. Cox. An eloquent sermon on the life and character of the deceased was then preachers by the pastor, Elder N. E. Cory. The services throughout were pathetic. At the close of the sermon a last look was taken at the familiar face, and then the remains were taken to Miriam cemetery, under charge of Nodaway Lodge No. 470 A. F. & A. M., of which lodge he was a member, and were committed to the tomb, with the impressive Masonic ceremonies, conducted by Rev. T. M. S. Kenney.

Father Armstrong, as he was familiarly and lovingly called, was a good, noble, grand man. His words, at all times and on all occasions, were words of wisdom and of peace. He was a devoted Christian, and lived for a life purer and better than this. The following historical sketch we take from the 'Nodaway County History:'

James J. Armstrong was born in Washington county, Pennsylvania, December 17, 1810. His grandfather, Col. James Armstrong, was a soldier of the revolutionary war. Trades and professions are sometimes handed down in a family from one generation to another. Such appears to be the case in the Armstrong family. The great grandfather of the subject of this sketch had a foundry in the district of Columbia, at an early day. James Armstrong, the father of J. J., had a foundry and machine shop in Claysville, Washington county, Pennsylvania. Here Mr. A., at an early age, commenced and learned his profession. In 1833 he entered the United States navy in the capacity of engineer, serving several years, after which he worked as a journeyman in several cities, eventually engaging in business at Pomeroy, Ohio, in 1844. There he built the rolling mill of Messrs. Pomeroy & Horton, remaining one year, when he returned to Cincinnati, and lived there two years. He then entered the Bureau of Construction in the U. S. navy, continuing several years. While connected with the navy he passed through the Mexican troubles and did good service during that memorable war. After the battle of Vera Cruz, he volunteered from the navy and entered the ranks, still holding his position as master in the navy. He was in Lieut. Totten's command, under Gen. Scott, and was at the taking of the City of Mexico, and served through until the close, being once wounded. After returning to the states he located for a time in Mobile, Alabama, being on detached service, and superintending the construction of the iron work on the Mobile custom house. Upon the completion of that structure, he resigned and came to St. Louis. While in that city he was for a time in the employ of the Excelsior Stove Works, and afterwards too charge of the foundry department of Palm & Robinson's Locomotive works. He also had charge of Cuddy, Carpenter & Co's. Broadway foundry. In 1860 he moved to Liberty, Clay county, Missouri, and started a foundry but this enterprise did not prove very remunerative, the slavery question being strongly agitated and Mr. A. being an ardent Union man, it had a serious effect on his business. When the rebellion broke out it was his desire to rejoin the navy, but owing to family ties he was obliged to remain nearer home. He took an active part in organizing and recruiting a company, of which he was tendered the captaincy, but declined and accepted the position of orderly sergeant. He was principally on detached service and served through till the close, when he was honorably discharged. After the war he again turned his attention to the foundry business at Liberty, continuing until February, 1876, when he came to Maryville and established a foundry here. He was twice married-- first in 1844, to Miss Elizabeth Garrett. There are four children living by this marriage. Mrs. A. died in 1856. In 1858 Margaret Conner [sic] became his wife, who survives. They had one son, William Armstrong, the foundryman of this city.

The subject of this sketch Salina [sic] Armstrong, was born in Zainsville [sic], Muskingum Co., Ohio, Aug. 13, 1832, came to Missouri and settled in Daviess Co. in the 40's. She was married to William Acord Jan. 16, 1851. To this union were born nine children all living but one, Ida. The husband William Acord, preceded his companion to the eternal world Nov. 10, 1907. They walked the way of life together for fifty-six years. They moved in to this community in the year 1882.

Mother Acord made a profession of religion and united with the Christian church in about the year 1870 in Daviess Co., under the ministry of the Rev. Swiney. We are assured by her children that she died in the faith. We do not mourn as they who have no hope.

Death came peacefully Friday morning at 8:15 December 31, 1909. She leaves many relatives who will miss her. Her place will be empty-- a vacant chair.

"Who ran to help me when I fell And would some pretty story tell, Or kiss the place to make it well? My mother.'

The funeral was preached by the writer at the Methodist Episcopal church in Union Star, Mo., at 2:30 p.m. Jan. 1, 1910, text Jer. 12:5 'How will thou do in the swelling of Jordan?'

The following account of the death of W. H. Armstrong, who lived near Flag Springs, in this county, from 1866-1877, is taken from the Chattanooge, Tenn. News of October 12, and is published by reguest [sic]:

W. H. Armstrong, one of the best known citizens and prominent contractors of this city, died very suddenly at his farm near Alton Park last night at 10:30 o'clock of neuralgia of the heart. Mr. Armstrong had been complaining yesterday afternoon with a pain in his left arm, which the family physicians says [sic] indicated the approach of the dread malady. He retired, however, soon after 10 o'clock last night and had scarcely become quiet when he suddently [sic] threw up his hands and expired without uttering a word.

The immediate members of the family including Mrs. W. H. Armstrong, one son, William E. and three daughters, Misses Rena, Kate and Evelyn Armstrong, were all present at the time of his death. L. L. and H. L. Armstrong were in the city at the time, but they were summoned and reached the bedside of their father soon after death. Besides his wife, sons and daughters, Mr. Armstrong leaves a brother, Richard Armstrong, who resides in Meridian, Miss. He also leaves four sisters, as follows: Mrs. C. S. Sewell, of Louisville, Ky.; Mrs. Charles Buster of Coal Hill, Ark.; Mrs. Clarke McKenney, of Union Star, Mo.; Mrs. Robert White, of Union Star and Mrs. Angie A. Clark, of Bolckow, Mo.

Mr. Armstrong secured the contract for erecting several buildings at the new army post, having almost completed the gymnasium at the post. He also built several of the business blocks in this city and many of the best and most substantial residences.

The deceased was 57 years of age last May, and was born in Jacksonville, Ill., where he was reared. He removed to Andrew county Missouri in 1866 and from there to Danville, Ky. He married Miss Kate Buster, of Wayne county, Ky., about 32 years ago. He came from Danville, Ky. to this city eighteen years ago, and has resided here since. He spent the summer on Walden's Ridge with his family but recently purchased a farm of 110 acres just across the Georgia line near Alton Park, where he removed from the ridge. Mr. Armstrong was apparently a very healthy man and never had the attention of a physician for the past fifteen years.

Mr. Armstrong had witnessed the rapid growth of this city for the past eighteen years and it was largely due to his efforts that most of the substantial and beautiful residences have been erected here.

He was a member of the Master Builders' association and a charter member of the Chattanooga Builder's [sic] exchange. He was a member of the membership and printing committee of the exchange in 1903-1904, and also a director during the same year. He was president of the Master Builders' association in 1903. A meeting of the Chattanooga Builders exchange will be held tomorrow night when resolutions of respect will be passed on his death.

Mr. Armstrong is a man in whom friends had the upmost confidence and respect.

Call not back the dear departed, Anchored safe where storms are o'er, On the border-land we left him, Soon to meet and part no more;

Far beyond this world of changes--Far beyond this world of care--We shall find our missing loved one, In our Father's mansion fair.

This lovely bud, so young and fair, Called hence by early doom, Just came to show how sweet a flower In Paradise would bloom!

E're sin could harm or sorrow fade, Death came, with friendly care, The opening bud to Heaven conveyed, And bade it blossom there!

Dearest brother, thou hast left us, And thy loss we deeply feel, But 'tis God that hast bereft us--He can all our sorrows heal.

Yes, again we hope to meet thee When the day of life hath fled--When in Heaven-- with joy to greet thee, Where no farewell tears are shed. Susie Steeby.

Though a baby of so tender days, his disposition was one of sweetness and the glance from his cheerful face spread sunshine in the home and in the lives of his loved ones.

All that loving hands, tender nursing and medical skill could do was done, but withal the tender flower of the morning was transplanted to bloom forever in the Garden of God.

At 6:30 Sunday morning, the little face, which does always behold the face of Our Father in Heaven, lighted up with a smile, closed his eyes, to awaken in the arms of the Master. Where little bodies are not distorted with pain or little hands and feet benumbed with paralysis.

It is but natural that a father and mother would be absorbed in the love of so angelic a visitant, and the coming of the first born be an event in the family life, equaled in joy, only by the reuniting of families in heaven, to which these young parents and loved ones may look forward with increasing expectation and the hope of undisturbed fellowship forever, with God who gave his only Begotten Son, that this immortal fellowship be achieved.

After two days spent in hearing the testimony of witnesses and listening to the arguments off [sic] attorneys, the jury in the case of Ethel Arnold by her next friend Charles Arnold vs. City of Maryville, gave the plaintiff $2250 damages.

The facts in the case are as follows: About August 1, 1898, Miss Arnold stubbed her right foot, while passing over the sidewalk at the intersection of Ninth and Main streets. It seems as though the side walk here was in a bad condition.

This injury, apparently at least, was not serious and the little girl continued her school work without intermission. Eighteen months later a cancerous growth, called sarcoma, appeared on the instep of this same foot.

An operation was performed about June 23, 1902, and the leg was removed at the knee.

Ethel Arnold, the daughter of Charles Arnold, died at the family residence on North Mulberry street Sunday evening, aged fifteen years.

Miss Arnold is survived by two brothers, Walter and Henry Arnold, two sisters, Margaret and Marjory Arnold, and her parents. She had been an invalid for several years, and had been bedfast for a month before her death.

Miss Arnold was given a judgment for $2,200 against the city, during the November term of the circuit court, damages for injuries alleged to have been received in falling on a defective sidewalk at North Main and Ninth streets in August 1898. Her counsel alleged that she stubbed her toe on a projection on the walk, and that, as a result, a cancerous growth formed, which necessitated the amputation of her leg a couple of years after.

The case was tried before Judge Burnes, who afterwards overruled a motion for a new trial by City Attorney J. S. Shinabargar. The city appealed the case to the Kansas City Court of Appeals.

If the higher court remands the case back to the circuit court for retrial the case will end there as the death of the plaintiff makes a retrial of the case impossible. In the event of the decision of the lower court being affirmed, the city will have no further means of redress, but must pay the judgment to the heirs of the deceased plaintiff.

The funeral will be held Tuesday afternoon from the First Christian church, Rev. W. A. Fite officiating. Interment will be made in Miriam cemetery. The body will lie in state from 10 until 12:30 o'clock.

Charley, the nine-year-old son of Thomas Ashley, a leading farmer living near Rush, was frightfully injured in the head on Monday of this week. Father and son went to Whitesville in an open buggy arriving about 10 o'clock in the morning and were tying their team to the rack in front of Smith Brothers hardware store. For some reason inexplainable, the horse which the boy was endeavoring to tie, gave a lunge and the little fellow was thrown violently against the run of an iron-wheeled wheelbarrow. He was picked up by Clell Landers and was carried to the office of Dr. E. C. Jeffries who administered as best he could to the wounded boy. It was thought that the boy couldn't live and Mr. Ashley being anxious to get him home, willing men offered their services. Ad Bradford, Clel Landers and Ed Cook conveyed the boy home.

Dr. Myers, of Rea, the family physician, was also called, and, after a consultation of the doctors, it was decided to call Dr. O. B. Campbell, of St. Joseph, to their assistance. Dr. Campbell is a surgeon of great ability and arrived Monday night. It was feared that the little fellow had meet [sic] with a most serious accident. The flesh on the back of the head was cut through by a knife, for a length of four inches. It was also found that the skull was badly fractured for a distance of almost six inches and it required the most delicate of operating to raise the injured skull to its proper position. The brain matter oozed out and the case seemed to be a doubtful one. The little boy stood the operation with fortitude, anesthetics having been administered. It is thought that he will recover. Died, of cancer, at the poor farm, October 18, 1898, Elder Richard Artherton, formerly of Ravenwood, Mo. The deceased was born January 25, 1825, near Middletown, Gurnsey county, Ohio, an dwas raised on a farm. At the age of twenty-five years he was married to Miss Elizabeth

McCune, of the same place, by Rev. Samuel Findley, a Presbyterian minister. One child was born to them, which died in infancy. While young he had united with the Christian church and shortly after his marriage was ordained a mnister of the Gospel by that church and followed praching and school teaching in Ohio for twenty years. He was then called from Ohio to West Virginia, in which state he lived for fifteen years and devoted his entire time to the ministry. On account of failing health of himself and wife he gave up the ministry and came to Missouri, some thirteen years ago and located in Sweet Home, this county, and when Ravenwood was laid out he bought several lots and built the Commercial Hotel and ran it for some time, but was compelled on account of poor health, to give up his business and rent the hotel out. In a few years he became so badly involved in debt, on account of not being able to do anything to keep up his expenses, that he sold all his property to pay his indebtedness. The good people of Ravenwood have been helping them for some time, but their health got so bad that neither of them could care for the other and they were brought to the poor farm, July the 24th last. A few days before his death he called Mr. Job, the superintendent, to his bedside and requested that his body be not buried in the county cemetery on the farm, but buried in Oak Hill cemetery, six miles east of Maryville. Mr. Job carried out his wishes and buried him as directed.

Brother Atherton was a man of sterling integrity, genial and companionable. His life was an open book and all his deeds were known by all his friends. In business he was upright and honest and scorned to engage in deception or any sort of misrepresentation in order to better his financial condition. He leaves a faithful wife at the poor farm to mourn his loss. From a record he kept, over 2000 persons were converted under his ministry.

A Friend.

She was the last of nine children-- four girls and five boys. Her husband preceded her June 18, 1910, since which time she has lived with her son Charley, with the exception of one year.

She united with the Baptist church in Nodaway county in 1861, and ever since that time she has been a faithful and coinsistent [sc] member of that church and a faithful servant of God. Those little flowers were born to die And leave this world of woe, To dwell with Christ in paradise, In raiment white as snow.

They are there will little Willie
In the presence of the King
And their voices make sweet music

To die in Jesus, Oh! how sweet You need not shed a tear You should not wish them back again You have no cause to fear.

In a desperate shooting affray with two burglars whom he met on the street at Ninth and Grand avenue, Los Angeles, Cali., shortly before 10 o'clock Wednesday, Sept. 9th, Captain Walter Auble of the city police force was shot three times and fatally wounded, dying at 3 o'clock the same afternoon. One of the men, Fred Horning, a chauffeur, was captured, but the man who did the shooting, Carl Sutherland, a waiter, escaped. Captain Auble was former chief of police of Los Angeles.

Capt. Auble lived in St. Joseph until eighteen years ago. He was born in Savannah, and a brother who lives here was informed of his death Wednesday. Many of the older residents of St. Joseph and Savannah, remember Auble. He had the distinction of being the only chief of police in the country to resign his place for the purpose of taking a subordinate position.

It is reported that Carl Sutherland, the man who shot and killed Capt. Auble, was captured Wednesday night and committed suicide by taking carbolic acid.

The Los Angeles, Cali., papers state that the funeral of Walter H. [sic] Auble, captain of police of that city, was one of the largest ever seen there. At least 3,000 persons were turned away from the Scottish Rite cathedral in which the service was held, and twenty-one cars were needed to convey those who wished to attend the services at the grave. The use of these cars was donated by H. E. Huntington, president of the road.

The service at the cathedral was impressive and was conducted according to the Masonic ritual. The floral display was grand and consisted of about 150 designs and nearly as many casket bouquets. Among those who came to look and mourn were many of the prominent people of the city and many poor who remembered some kind word or deed of the captain. The papers state that there were few dry eyes.

They also say that before the funeral the state of the family of the late official was pitiful. Earl Auble, the son, went from one fainting fit unto another. His sister, Julia, was about in the same condition. Mrs. Auble tried her best to keep up, but was unable to do so, and it was necessary for her physician to be in attendance most of the morning. Mrs. Auble had received an unusually severe shock on the day of the murder. When she learned that her husband had been shot, she went to the receiving hospital. The scene that confronted her might have killed some women. Her husband had been placed under an anesthetic and the surgeons were cutting him open. They say that Gladys Auble, the youngest daughter, showed splendid fortitude. Just before the body was removed from the home, she went to the coffin and pinned a white carnation on the lapel of her dead father's coat.

Capt. Auble was shot by a burglar that he was arresting on the morning of the ninth of September and died about 3 o'clock that afternoon, an account of which was published in The Democrat of September 18. The captain was raised in this city and is a brother of N. F. Auble, who lives just west of town, and Mrs. William Lillibridge, of near Rochester. His mother lives with her aughter.

Tuesday morning our people were shocked to learn that George W. Austin had ended his life by shooting himself through the head at the grave of his dead child, in the cemetery adjoining the city. George of late years had suffered from a morbid affection, which grew upon him so that he believed no one was his friend. Several times his wife had separated from him upon grounds of unbearable cruelty, and the last time she had persistently refused to return to him. On Monday morning he had visited the house of Mrs. Philo Hyde for the purpose, as he declared, of seeing and talking with his wife, and desiring her to go with him to the cemetery to show him the grave of her child. Mrs. Hyde, believing that Austin meditated mischief, refused to permit him to take Mrs. Austin with him or to see her alone. It is now believed his purpose was to shoot both Mrs. Austin and himself at the side of the grave where he ended his life.

Austin had bargained with George Rogers for the pistol with which he did the bloody deed, promising to give either five dollars in money or a rifle left at Mr. Nate Auble's, where Austin had been staying since his recent return from Illinois. Tuesday morning Rogers went to Auble's to see about the rifle, and as Austin had not been seen for twenty-four hours, they suspected he had killed himself and at once began search, and they found him as above stated. He had evidently knelt on the ground, placed the 44 caliber Springfield revolver over his right ear and fired, the ball passing out on the opposite side of the head. He fell forward on his face, and apparently never moved afterward.

Coroner J. F. Townsend was promptly notified, who summoned a jury, and the result of their investigation was that he came to his death by his own hand. His remains were buried in the cemetery, the same evening, without ceremony.

Yesterday forenoon James Rogers and Nate Auble of Savannah, went to the cemetery at that place and found the body of George W. Austin lying by the side of the grave of his child with a pistol held in his dead hand, and a bullet hole through his head. They at once notified Coroner Townsend, who held an inquest, the jury bringing in a verdict that the deceased came to his death by a pistol shot fired by himself with suicidal intent.

Austin was a machinist by trade, and has been a resident of Savannah for the past twenty years. He was about 40 years of age and leaves a wife and child, a girl about 12 years of age. Austin had not been happy in his domestic relations, and there had been frequent guarrels between himself and wife. He left a few weeks ago for a trip to Illinois, and while absent his wife instituted divorce proceedings against him. On his return last Saturday he was served with legal notice of the filing of the suit and on Sunday went to see his wife as they had not lived together for some time. He asked her to go to the cemetery where they had a child buried as he wanted to settle their differences and live together again. This she refused to do as she was afraid of him. He then left and went to the house of George Rogers, where he secured a pistol which belonged to Auble, stating he wanted to trade for it as he was going west. He said he wanted to try the pistol, and putting it in his pocket went away. This was the last seen of him alive. A pistol shot was heard in the cemetery on Sunday noon by several parties, but no attention was paid to it. Yesterday morning Auble and James Rogers went to the home of George Rogers and asked if the pistol had been returned. On being informed it had not, Auble remarked that Austin had been seen going into the cemetery. Rogers said, "If that is the case we will find him there." They went at once to the cemetery and at the grave of Austin's child found him. He was lying in a partially doubled up position with the pistol still held firmly in his hand. The bullet had entered the right side of his head about the ear, passed upward through the head and came out about three inches above the left ear. Death must have been instantaneous, as there were no indications of any struggle. The pistol was a large 44 caliber, and but one chamber had been discharged. There was no letters or messages of any kind found near him or upon his person. The body was taken to the city and an inquest held, after which it was taken to his home. The funeral will take place to-day.

Margaret Ann Austin was born in Auburn, New York, in 1836 and departed this life April 18, 1919, at the home of her son, Leonard Whitten, to which she was taken during her illness. She had advanced to the unusually mature age of 83 years. It was here that her children and loved ones cared for her until her departure. She had been in ill health since the third of last November and because of her advanced age was unable to regain strength. She with Mr. Comegys united with the New Hope Baptist church, east of Hopkins and remained a member of that body the remainder of their lives. They were charter members of this church, having united with it during the pastorate of J. H. Latour.

Grandmother, as the pastor of the Hopkins Baptist church familiarly called her, was a woman who loved her Lord and remained faithful to Him throughout her life. She remarked several times in his presence that she was ready to go at her Master's bidding and was only waiting His time. It has been a pleasure to know her and to visit in her home and talk with her.

She became the devoted mother of eight children-- five of whom are now living: Mrs. Elizabeth Stauffer, of Pheonix [sic], Ariz.; Leonard Whitten, of Hopkins, Mo.; Lew, of Fairmont, Nebr.; Mrs. Geo. Allison and Mrs. Maude Duncan of near Hopkins, Mo. The children who preceded her are Arthur, Willie and Cora. Her late husband, Samuel Comegys, was laid to rest in the Hopkins cemetery February 3, 1916. In addition to the five living children she possessed fifteen grand-children, six great grand-children and one great, great grand-child.

Died at his home in Maryville, Thursday morning, April 30, 1903, Homer A. Avery, aged about 65 years.

Homer Avery was born in 1838 at Bath, Ohio, where he grew to manhood and received part of his education in the common schools of the period. When about grown he moved to Missouri, near Booneville, where he also went to school.

He enlisted August 1, 1862, in Co. H. 35th Mo. Infantry, and served until June 8, 1865, when he was discharged.

After the close of the war he moved to Andrew county, settling near Fillmore, where he was a neighbor of John S. Schenck and A. K. Martin, all of whom have since been citizens of Maryville. In 1868 he moved to Maryville, which has since been his home.

After coming to Marville he first engaged in manufacturing carriages and wagons. This business he sold to F. Barmann and engaged in the manufacturing of listers and plows with Aaron Wiles. Later he was in the implement business with C. C. Ditmer, but only for a short time, when he went by himself. After continuing this business for a few years, he engaged in the grain and coal business with his son, Charles, in which he was engaged until his death.

In 1869 [sic] Mr. Avery was married to Letitia Andrews, and to them were given two children. Franes and Charles. Mrs. Letitia Avery died in 1874, and in 1876 he married Littie Van Loon, by whom he had children Grace and Edna. Mrs. Lottie Avery died September 20, 1896, since which time he has made his home with his children, all of whom survive.

Mr. Avery was always a Republican, and served at one time as member of the Maryville city council. He was never a seeker for office, however. He was also a charter member of the Presbyterian church in Maryville.

He was a member of the Masonic fraternity, the Knights Templar and the Grand Army, in all of which he was much interested and generally in attendance upon their meetings.

His health had been gradually failing for some time before his death, which was therefore not unexpected.

Funeral services were held Saturday at 2:30 p.m. at the residence, after which the remains were laid to rest in Oak Hill cemetery. The services were conducted by Nodaway Lodge No. 470, A. F. & A. M. with Maryville Commandry.

A short time since we recorded in our columns the departure from our midst of Messrs. J. M. and Henry Cullers and John R. Avis, well known in Savannah and in Andrew county. Young Avis left the city full of hope and the determination to win a fortune in Texas, which seems to be the goal of so many restless people within the past few months. The friends of young Avis will regret to read the following letter, giving an account of his cold-blooded murder:

Chetopa, Ks., Dec. 22, 1872

Editors Herald: Please give space in the columns of your paper for the following particulars of a terrible tragedy which occured [sic] in this neighborhood a few days since:

On Saturday night, the 21st inst., a part of emigrants from Andrew county, Missouri, four in number, Capt. Cullers, Henry Cullers, J. Avis and a colored boy, while traveling through the country were attacked by a band of desperadoes when about twelve miles from here. The desperadoes approached the wagon and began firing. Young Avis jumped out to make a defense, but as soon as he had reached the ground he fell, struck in the breast by three bullets. While lying on the ground he emptied his revolver at the villains. Henry Cullers then jumped out and came to the assistance of young Avis, when the attacking party rode off. Avis was brought to this city and is still living, but his doctor says that he cannot last much longer.

I am acquainted with the parties, having lived in St. Joseph for several years, and vouch for the truth of the above statements. Yours truly,

J. N. Simpson

John R. Avis writes us from Sherman, Texas, that he is not dead, as reported. We suppose he must have his own way about it; but he seems to have little regard for the feelings of newspapers, to persist in living after they had laid him away so tenderly and in such imaginary security.

It pains us to record the death under so peculiarly sad circumstances of Thomas Awalt, a young man twenty-four years of age, son of Wm. Awalt, of Pickering. It appears that on last Friday afternoon, he board a construction train, having previously been in the employ of the railroad, and was intending to go down to St. Joseph upon it to attend the fair. When the train got down about Bolckow, young Awalt got on top of the cars, but when nearing the bridge on the Hundred-and-two river, near Rosendale, he remarked to the others on top that he believed he would go below. As he started down the ladder some one said to him that he had better be careful as they were coming near the bridge, but it is likely he did not hear it, as he kept on descending. He had got nearly down when the same party, looking over the car, said to him again to be careful that they were just at the bridge. At this he looked around and in doing so threw his head back somewhat, when one of the timbers struck him, but did not knock him off. A second later he was struck again and thrown down on the trestle, and a moment later fell through it, a distance of thirty feet to the bed of the river below. His relatives got his remains at Rosendale, and on Saturday Rev. Cowley, of Quitman, preached his funeral at the M. E. Church in Pickering, after which he was buried in the Coleman cemetery. He was a most exemplary young man and his untimely and sad death has cast a gloom over the community where he was so well known and so much esteemed.-- [Maryville Democrat.

He, in company with another boy a year or two older, undertook to cross the slough on a pole which had floated down against some willows. They both fell into the water. Ahira was drowned. The other boy got out and bore the sad news to the parents of the drowned boy. He was in the water about forty-five minutes before he was found.

Source: The Maitland [MO] Herald, 23 Feb 1911, Thursday, p. 5

Mary Elizabeth Taylor, whose maiden name was Mary Elizabeth Ayers, was born July 21, 1892 [sic], at Ellensville New York, the daughter of Samuel B. Ayers a Presbyterian minister, and Sarah H. Ayers, his wife, whose maiden name was Sarah H. Roy, and who died when Mrs. Taylor was nine years old, leaving her the eldest of five children, three brothers, David, Alvin and Samuel Ayers, and one sister, Martha Belle Ayers, now Mrs. A. C. Hutchinson.

About the year of 1854 Mr. Ayers removed with his family to the state of Illinois, where the remainder of Mrs. Taylor's girlhood was spent. She was educated in the Public Schools and at the Presbyterian Academy at Jacksonville Illinois. She was married to John Lawrence Taylor at Tallala, Illinois March 30, 1864 and to this union were born six children. Sarah J. now Mrs. Wm. B. Zinkey, Samuel A. Taylor, William A. Taylor, Charles G. Taylor who died Sept. 3, 1908, Edward R. Taylor and Ethel now Mrs. Jonas Shields. Her husband, John Lawrence Taylor died Sept. 19, 1901.

Mrs. Taylor and her family removed to Nebraska, where they lived over four years, and later to Witchita [sic], Kan. and from there to her late home in Graham, Mo., in the autumn of 1882, where she resided until the time of her death Feb. 16, 1911, being then aged 68 years, 6 months and 26 days.

She left surviving her, besides her five children and her sister above named, one half sister, Mrs. J. Stevenson, of Chicago and four half brothers residing in Ill., Colorado, and Texas respectively.

Mrs. Taylor was a devoted daughter and self sacrificing mother, and her chief interest in life centered in her home and family. She was a woman of fine Christian character and, high ideals, and sought to instill in her children those traits of mind and heart that count for the most and best in this life and the life to come.

She joined the Presbyterian church at an early age and for over twenty-five years past has been a member of that church at Graham.

Funeral services were held at the Presbyterian Church in Graham Saturday afternoon, conducted by Rev. J. R. Jones, pastor of the church. The Scripture to which attention was especially called is found in Rev. 21:4 and Rev. 20:12.

'There remaineth a rest to the People of God. He is able to keep, oh how Sweet is the thought That which we unto him have Committed--The soul once his own, he will Never disown: It will surely for glory be fitted.'

The body was laid to rest in the Graham Cemetery.

Nancy Laughlen Gregory, daughter of Rufus and Sarah A. Ayers, and wife of Rufus Gregory, was born in Fillmore, Andrew county, Mo., October 4, 1860, and departed this life March 25, 1884, aged 23 years, 5 months and 20 days.

She was married to Rufus Gregory September 14, 1881. The subject of this writing was a great sufferer. She was taken sick on the evening of the 1st of October last, after a pleasant drive to Mound City and back, in company with her husband, stepped at her mother-in-law's, Mrs. Mary Gregory for dinner, which was the last hearty meal she ever ate, and from that time until her death she suffered intensely. Sister Gregory was a member of the M. E. church for a number of years, but was not entirely satisfied with her religious experience until within two months of her death, when in answer to earnest prayer she received a full assurance of her acceptance with God. She bore her afflictions with great patients [sic], and on the morning of the day she died, she called her father, mother, sister and husband, and all of her friends that were present to her bedside and intelligently bade them all farewell until they would meet her in heaven.

The funeral services were conducted by the writer Sunday, April 6th at 11 o'clock a.m., in the Fillmore M. E. church in the presence of a very large congregation who came to show their high appreciation of the deceased.

The text for the occasion was selected from St. Luke, 8th chapter 52 verse, 'Weep not; she is not dead but sleepeth.'

'Servant of God, well done, Thy glorious welfare's past. The battle's fought, the race is run, And thou art crowned at last.'

Lines on the death of Mrs. Nanny Gregory, who died March 25 [sic], 1884. She was a member of the M. E. Church and went home in the triumph of faith. She was small and very fair, and as to her kindly nature I can well speak, having living neighbors some years ago. I lay sick all one winter. In the spring when I was just able to walk to town, as I would arrive in sight of her father's house on my return she would hurry out to meet me and would take my load and carry it to my gate.

Alas, our sweetest singer has flown, To join the angels around the throne. But still the music lingers yet Within our memory, ne'er forget.
Oh! mother; could you see her now,
With radient [sic] glory on her brow,
And this her sweetest song alone,
Now death is past and victory won,
And husband do not wish her back,
For thee she left the brightest track,
A lamp of light filled with Godly love,
To guide thee to her home above.
