George W. Cade died at the home of his step-father, J. H. Pidcock, in Burlington Junction at 6:30 o'clock Friday evening. His death was caused by paralysis, from which he had been suffering several months. His age was 54 years, 10 months and 8 days.

George W. Cade, son of Elijah and Elizabeth Cade, was born in Wisconsin March 16, 1864. He came to Burlington Junction with his parents in 1880 and had been a resident of this place ever since. Although he was afflicted since a child, being a deaf mute, George was quite proficient at several trades and was a favorite with many. For many years he had a shoe and harness repairing shop in Burlington Junction.

George's health began to fail last summer and he declined steadily, being confined to his bed for several weeks before his death. His father and sister, and friends did everything possible to make his last days as pleasant as possible.

The decedent is survived by one sister, Mrs. Tina Purviance of Cromwell, Iowa, his step father, J. H. Pidcock, with whom he made his home, and one brother, James M. Pidcock of Dupres, S. Dak.

The funeral service was held at the family home in the south part of town at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Ernest Snider, and burial took place in the Ohio cemetery.

Four children were born to them, Colda [sic], who is now nineteen years of age, Iona fifteen, Curtis six and Warren, who died in infancy. Eleven years ago she obeyed the Gospel of Christ at Bethel church, and has honored her profession 'by an upright life and a Godly conversation.' For several years she has been in failing health, and about a month ago, it was decided that a change of climate might be beneficial, accordingly the family went to Colorado. For a short time there seemed to be a slight improvement in her condition but soon a reaction came, and at 2:05 o'clock a.m. September 25, after making disposition of her worldly [sic] effects, and making all preparations for her funeral she 'fell asleep' to wake no more on earth. As she saw the end approaching she committed her Spirit to God, sang a stanza of 'I'm Going Home to Die No More' and passed. The body was brought to the old home, three miles northwest of

Again the grim monster Death has visited the family of our honored citizen Boyd Barr. Last week he buried his daughter Mrs. Amy Cole and this week he gave up his granddaughter Miss Amy Cain, a lovely girl just budding into womanhood.

Amy M. Cain was born at Yuma Colorado May 11, 1889, and died at the home of her father A. J. Cain near Rea, Jan. 28, 1905. Miss Cain was an earnest Christian a consistent member of the Methodist church.

Her mother who was a daughter of Mr. Boyd, died several years ago, but Mr. Cain and his children have clung together and it seems doubly sad that the light of the household should be so suddenly called, but God knows best and we reverently bow our heads as we repeat 'Thy Will be done.'

The sad news reached Concordia last evening announcing the death, at four o'clock, Thursday, June 20, in New York City, of Major Eugene W. Caldwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Caldwell, of this city, and whose home at one time was here.

Deceased was born at Savannah, Mo., Dec. 3, 1869. He was a graduate of Savannah high school and later of Kansas University. Hon. A. L. Wilmoth, General Funston and others, who have since made a creditable name for themselves in the activities of life, were at the Lawrence school at the same time as Major Caldwell.

After graduation from the University young Caldwell was in the employ of the Government, associated with Prof. Blake, of the University, in experimental work connected with wireless telegraphy.

He went to New York City about 1893 and early became an expert and an inventor in the electrical world and more especially in connection with the Roentgen, or X-ray science. He was soon considered one of the foremost authorities in the world in these discoveries. Feeling the need of a medical education to make more efficient and more serviceable to humanity his knowledge and skill with the X-ray, he took a full medical course in the Bellevue Hospital Medical School, graduating with the degree of M. D., and thereafter he took a post-graduate course in Vienna, Austria.-- From Concordia, Kansas, Daily Kansan, July 21.

His remains will be given a military funeral in New York City and thereafter will be cremated, as was no doubt his wish.

He was walking across the railroad track at that place [sic], when the passenger train struck him. On the side in which he was approaching a freight was on the siding and had uncoupled to clear the crossing. This train shut off the view of the main track and Mr. Caldwell, was struck just as he passed through the opening made by the freight.

He was for years a resident of this county and moved to Oklahoma about a year ago. He leaves a family of four children to mourn his untimely death.

W. W. Caldwell received a telegram announcing the death of his brother on the day of the accident and left immediately for Pond Creek. He returned Tuesday of this week.

The Caldwell's [sic] were pioneers of Ohio and Indiana, and lived among the Indians, who were especially friendly, and whose language they learned to speak.

In 1843 Captain William Caldwell married Elizabeth Christie, who was born in Ross county, Ohio, in 1822. William Caldwell moved his family from Noble county, Indiana, to Andrew County, Missouri, in 1849. They made the trip by wagon and during the entire trip did not cross a bridge or a railroad track. They crossed the rivers by ferry and forded the streams. Arriving in Andrew county in August, 1849, they settled in Rochester.

Captain Caldwell bought mill property and built the first bridge across the Platte river at Rochester, J. R. working in the mill with his father in his early manhood, and later engaged in the mercantile business. In April, 1865, he moved to Savannah where he served as deputy circuit clerk under his father. In 1868, he was elected judge of the probate court and re-elected in 1872. After retiring from the probate office he engaged in the practice of law and mercantile pursuits until 1887, when he moved to Kansas to engage in the banking business. He retired from business and returned to Savannah in 1905, where he resided until his death.

In 1857, John R. Caldwell was married to Miss Sarah D. Phillips of Maysville, Kentucky. Four children were born of this union. William S., died in infancy, Mrs. J. P. Burns, Mrs. Sue E. Laney and Edwin survive him. Mrs. Caldwell died in 1868.

In 1871 Judge Caldwell was married to Miss Elizabeth Farley. To this union three children were born, Dr. Clyde F., Charles and Mrs. Grace E. Hall. He is survived by his wife, six children, nine grandchildren and one great-grandchild and three brothers.

He united with the Presbyterian church in 1869, was elected deacon in 1870 and ruling elder in 1880. When a very young man he joined the I.O.O.F. in Rochester and was thought to be the oldest continuous member of the Savannah lodge.

Judge Caldwell was very devoted to the church and under no circumstances would he permit any thing to interfere with his church attendance and duties, and at the day of his death he was the senior member of the session.

He came from that sturdy Scotch-Irish stock which always stood for the right and his influence for good will long be felt in this community. His going<sup>2</sup> is not alone felt by his family, but by many old friends, who have sat with him in the church or the councils of the Godly<sup>3</sup>.

Captain William Caldwell, an old citizen, and well known to the old residents in this part of the State, was seized with paralysis of the left side, on Wednesday morning, and from present indications it is not expected that he will recover. On Tuesday he intended to come to town on the next day to transact some business; but the next morning he felt worse, and kept his bed. Desiring to get up a moment, during the morning, his wife and daughter essayed to help him, but he said he could go alone. While crossing the floor his left side gave way suddenly, and he fell, his breast striking a rocking-chair, knocking the breath out of him, and those present thought him to be lifeless. Dr. Ensor was sent for, who pronounced the trouble to be paralysis. And the Captain was relieved in a measure. He complained of cramps for a time, but these have been overcome. The Captain is 76 years of age, and for some years has been in poor health, although he stood last winter bravely; and it is not expected that he can possibly long survive the attack. He talks with great difficulty and indistinctness, his mouth and left eye are being gradually drawn out of shape, he is getting weaker; and while his numerous friends earnestly hope he may be saved to them, yet his comrades and friends are prepared for the sad announcement of his death at any hour. He bears up under the affliction like a hero.

William Caldwell was born in Ross county, Ohio, December 26, 1808. He was married to Mary Pierson, in Highland county, Ohio, in 1831, and removed with his and his mother's family to Noble county, Indiana, in 1833, where he lost his wife by death. In 1842 he was married to Elizabeth Christie. While in Indiana he was engaged in the milling business. He then removed to Andrew county, Missouri, in 1849, and settled at Rochester. In 1861, at the beginning of the war of the rebellion, he had his mills at that place burned by political incendiaries. He then entered the United States service, and served his county as a Lieutenant of artillery and afterwards as Captain of Company C, Twelfth Missouri Cavalry. At the close of the war he served as Clerk of the Circuit Court of Andrew county for nearly six years. He died at his home, southwest of the city, after an illness of nearly six months, December 24, 1885, and was buried last Saturday afternoon on his seventy-seventh birthday. He leaves a wife and seven children, one by his first marriage, Judge J. R. Caldwell being the latter, the others being James C., Julia (Mrs. Shedrick), Matilda (Mrs. Herbert), Able L., Noble W. and Loan. There were four children by his first wife and ten by the wife surviving him.

The Captain was a great lover of his country-- loyal to the core. He was a member of the G.A.R., and was buried under the auspices of Peabody Post No. 41, G.A.R., of this city. His coffin was enshrouded with the national flag, under whose folds he had done valiant service. The funeral services began at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, at the Sixth Street M.E. Church, and the house was crowded with friends of the dead Captain. Rev. Samuel Huffman, an intimate and warm friend of the deceased, preached a most touching sermon. He was assisted in the services by Rev. James Reed, of the Presbyterian Church. He was then laid away in the cemetery. Many a cloud of sadness passed over the hearts of veterans throughout Northwest Missouri, upon learning the sad intelligence that he was no more on earth. Peace to his ashes.

The remains of Paris Caldwell, who was drowned in the Red river in Oklahoma Saturday while heroically trying to rescue two friends, were placed in the Savannah cemetery on Wednesday. The young man was 17 years old May 28, and was the only son of W. L. Caldwell and wife, who live four miles northeast of Savannah. He had gone on a visit to his uncle W. H. Potter and family in Pondcreek, Oklahoma, on Tuesday. They were seining in Red river; seven were in the water dragging the seine. They came unexpectedly to a deep hole. Mr. Potter rescued two of the boys. The 15-year-old sister-in-law, who had been walking along the bank with the end of the seine rope tied around her waist, was jerked into the water when her brother-in-law, who was about 30 years old, sank in the deep hole, and Paris, who was a good swimmer, went to their rescue, but sank before he reached them, and all three were drowned.

Paris intended to visit at his uncle's for three weeks. Rev. Kearby preached his funeral to a large congregation at the Baptist church in Savannah Wednesday. Paris was a very bright boy, and leaves four sisters and his parents.

Only very meagre details could be obtained over the long distance 'phone by which the message reached here Sunday morning, the telegraph wires being entirely out of business on account of the strike. The remains of young Caldwell were expected to reach here Sunday but did not come until Tuesday night.

Young Caldwell was only about 17 years of age and was the only son of his parents.

Paris Caldwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Caldwell, who went to Oklahoma on Tuesday, of last week to visit his uncle, W. H. Potter, and family, who live near Nashville, in that state, and two cousins were drowned last Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Potter, his three daughters, a son, son-in-law and two nephews, Paris Caldwell and Charley Vincent had went [sic] to the Salt river which runs near the Potter home to seine for fish. The river had been up, and before setting the seine in the water, Mr. Potter tested the stream for deep holes, but not finding any he thought it perfectly safe to go in with the seine. There were found several small holes, but none so deep but that a grown person could wade. However, the nine-year-old son of Mr. Potter was twice taken from these holes and was made to remain on the bank.

Potters's [sic] married daughter and husband and a single daughter we [sic] placed with one end of the seine in shallow water and Mr. Potter and his nephews took the other end across the stream. They had intended to circle the net and had started to do so when the married daughter and her husband went down and Potter made for them. He missed the son-in-law, but caught his daughter.

In the meantime another daughter, who was standing farther up stream, was washed off her feet and floated to where her father and sister were. Both daughters got onto their father's back and her made a heroic [sic] to get to shore with them. The current was strong and they were taken down stream fifty yards or more and the father went under fifteen or twenty times in that distance.

He began to fear that they would all be lost and asked his daughters if they wanted to drown him. They then got off into the water and the oldest sister got the other by the hand. This gave the father a better opportunity and grasping the hand of the older one he succeeded in getting them out.

While Mr. Potter was working with his daughters, Paris made an effort to go to his assistance but he was not strong enough to stand the current and went down. The other young man made an effort to go to his uncle's assistance, but realizing he would not be able to make it returned to the bank and when he reached it he was almost gone. The younger boy who was taken out of the water before the party began seining, saw Paris go down, and there was no one there who was able to go to his rescue.

Wilber [sic] Platte, the son-in-law, and the daughter, Eliza, who were drowned had the brails of the seine tied around their waists and their bodies were easily recovered.

The body of Paris was in the water about an hour and half and Mr. Potter succeeded in locating it by diving.

A telegram announcing this sad accident was received by Mr. Caldwell early Sunday morning and his son-in-law, Ray Phillippi, and Mrs. Caldwell's brother, James Potter, left immediately for Oklahoma. They returned to Savannah with the body Tuesday evening and it was taken to the family home northeast of town.

Funeral services were conducted from the First Baptist church Wednesday morning by Rev. Kearby and interment was at Savannah cemetery.

W. H. Potter and family formerly lived near Whitesville in this county, and went to Oklahoma about fifteen years ago.

Paris Caldwell was seventeen years old and a popular young man among his acquaintances. A few years ago he became a member of the Baptist church and has always been of exemplary habits. His parents and sisters have the sympathy of the entire community in their sad bereavement.

Union Star. June 13. The gloom that has been cast over our community by the tornado is pictures on everyone's countenance, and the words, 'It's awful,' 'terrible,' 'frightful,' &c., that are uttered by every one fail to convey the slightest idea of the scene of the destruction until it is once visited. There were two distinct cyclones seen from this place. One passed north of this about five miles, while the other formed some two miles east of this place, near Center School-house, lifting it clear off the foundation and placing it off some distance in good condition, save a shattered chimney and a few broken glass. Here the storm left the ground, passing over the prairie, where about two hundred head of cattle are feeding, and coming down again just west of John Call's house. Here it shows the whirl it has, by tossing his barn to the west, and strewing the fragments of his house for half a mile to the east. One to see the wreck would be curious to know how a single person could survive; and yet in this building were nine persons, and only one-- Mr. Call's youngest child-- injured fatally. All the rest were more or less bruised, but none seriously. In the track was found a large cook stove smashed into small fragments, while, strange to say, near by was found a clock uninjured. Mr. Call had several hundred dollars in a trunk, which, like the rest of his property, was swept away into unknown space. The good neighbors have generally offered their services to erect a building, and presented him with two hundred dollars. No further damage to life is done until it reaches a point near Winslow.

Callen, daughter of Samuel and Mary Callen, was born at Washington, Westmoreland county, Pa., on March 6, 1847, and died at her home near Stanberry, Mo., on Feb. 26, 1917, aged 69 years, 11 mos. and 20 days. Was united in marriage to Robert D. Masterson, who preceded her July 11, 1914. To this union 8 children were born: Frank T., Charles E. and Samuel C.; tow daughters, Miss Maggie, who lives at home, and Mrs. J. E. Handel of Kansas City, Mo.; three dying in infancy.

She has been a faithful member of the Baptist church of Stanberry, Mo., for nearly thirty years, always loyal to the church and true and faithful to the Christ she served. Although deprived of the privilege of attending church by sickness, she served him in her home life, always willing to make any sacrifice for the good of her family or her neighbors. To know her was to love her; to name her was to praise her.

The funeral was held Wednesday Feb. 28, conducted by Rev. B. F. Irving, her pastor. The burial was at Cooper cemetery.

*'Peaceful be thy rest, dear mother,
'Tis sweet to breathe thy name
In life we loved you dearly,
In death we do the same.*

*'More and more each day we miss you,
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow,
That lies within our hearts concealed.*

--Savannah Reporter: Samuel Callen, who died at his residence at Nodaway Station, some ten miles west of Savannah, on Sunday, January 10, was an old soldier, having belonged to Company B, Second Nebraska cavalry. He was born in Pennsylvania, and would have been 68 years of age next April, and has been a member of Peabody Post No. 41, G. A. R., of Savannah, since 1883. A number of the members of the post started on Tuesday morning to attend the funeral, arriving early in the afternoon, but it was postponed until 5 o'clock to await the arrival of a sister of Comrade Callen from Iowa. The following comrades of Peabody Post attended the funeral: Commander P. Mercer, Junior Vice Commander Peter Neff, Adjutant William Herden [sic], Officer of the Guard John Compton, and Comrade B. F. Hardcastle. Comrades G. W. Nease and D. J. Ely started to go on the cars, but the train being three hours behind time, concluded they would arrive too late, returned home.

News came to Post Head Quarters this Monday evening of the death of comrade Samuel Callen, member of the G. A. R. post at this place. He was a member of the 2nd Neb. Cav. Vols., residing at Nodaway Station, requesting that the members of this post be present and bury him in the honors of the organization. Accordingly, commander P. Mercer, junior vice-commander, P. Neff, adjunct Wm. Herndon, and private B. F. Hardcastle, went as guards of honor for the post. They arrived at the residence of deceased at 1 o'clock. The burial was appointed for 3 o'clock, the time being set at that hour so that his only sister, residing at Red Oak, Iowa, could arrive on the down train to be present at his burial. The train was two hours late but arrived just as the remains were being conveyed to the grave; in time, however, for his sister to look upon his remains; the first time she had seen him in thirty years.

His remains were turned over to the above guards, who were assisted by Rev. Moore and other friends in the interment which was conducted (notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather) to the appreciation of all present. It was a source of great pleasure to the G. A. R. boys to realize that their trip was so highly appreciated by his bereft wife and children. Samuel Callen died at his residence one mile northwest of Nodaway Station, on Sunday, January 10, 1886. We were informed that had he lived until April 18th next, he would have been 68 years of age. If we were in possession of [illegible] we would be glad to give it for publication.

McKenzie J. In 1866 he came to Oregon, crossing the plains with ox teams, and settled about eight miles south of Albany. He lived in that vicinity until Sept. 27, 1899, when he moved six miles east of Lebanon, where he lived until death, which occurred February 23, 1905, after about ten days of illness, during which time he suffered very greatly with paralysis. He was kindly attended by friends and relatives. He leaves a wife and two sons-- James O. and Marvin M., and has three sons dead. Also has one brother and one sister living and four brothers and four sisters dead. He professed religion and joined the Methodist Episcopal church South soon after his marriage. His house was a home for the preacher, as I can truthfully and gladly testify.

His funeral sermon was preached by the writer from Job 14:14, 'If a man die, shall he live again?' The remains were laid away in the Masonic cemetery. A good man has gone. At rest.

John Tontrip [sic] and Alfred Calvert were found dead in a well at their home, a quarter of a mile east of Nodaway, Friday at noon, by Mr. Calvert's wife. Mr. and Mrs. Calvert and three weeks old baby were living with Mr. Tontrip and keeping house for him. Both men had returned from their morning's work. Mr. Calvert went to the house and asked his wife when dinner would be ready. She said it would be ready in a few minutes. Mr. Calvert and Mr. Tontrip then went to the well to water the horses. Mrs. Calvert waited some time for them to return, and finally went to the well, where the two teams were standing.

She saw her husband's hat floating in the well. She told the neighbors and the people at Nodaway.

It was found that both men and the well bucket were in the well. From the appearances, those who were there think that Mr. Tontrip had gone down to get the bucket and was overcome by the carbonic acid gas, or choke damp, as it is sometimes called, and then Mr. Calvert went to his rescue and was overcome the same way. The bodies indicated that they were not drowned, for there was no water in the lungs.

Mr. Calvert had been married about two years, and leaves a wife and a child. He was about 22 years old, and the remains were buried near Avenue City Sunday.

Mr. Tontrip was about 50 years old and his brother and sister came from St. Louis and had the remains interred in the Savannah cemetery Monday.

The bodies of two men John Tontrup [sic] and Albert Calbert [sic] were found in a well on the farm of the former near Nodaway Sunday.

How the accident happened is not certainly known, the supposition being that one of the men had entered the well, and being overcome by damps started to fall and the other went to his rescue only to meet only to meet [sic] a similar fate.

A ladder in the well braced against the walls showed how descent was made.

The bodies were recovered and after being viewed by Coroner Kelley were buried Monday.

Calbert who was a young man employed by Tondrup and living on his farm, leaves a wife and four weeks old baby.

Both men were well known in the vicinity of Nodaway.

Nodaway, Aug. 14.-- Our community was shocked last Friday noon when word was received at Nodaway that John Tontrip and Alf. Calvert had lost their lives in a well on the former's farm, a quarter of a mile east of this place. They had come in from work for dinner and had stopped at the well to water their horses. The well bucket was in the bottom of the well and it is supposed that Mr. Tontrip went down on the wall to get it, when he was overcome with damps. It is thought too that Mr. Calvert went down to assist him and was also overcome.

Mrs. Calvert who was at the house preparing dinner, supposed that the men, were attending to their teams, but when they were so long coming to the house she went out to look for them. Seeing the horses still at the well she went there and looking down into the well saw their hats floating on the water. She immediately telephone [sic] to Nodaway for help and some men went to the place and with the aid of grapple hooks the men were taken out. Mr. Calvert was first pulled up out of the water and it was seen that Mr. Tontrip had hold of him, but when about half up fell back into the water. The hooks were let down again and he was brought to the ground.

Coroner Kelley, of Amazonia was called and after viewing the bodies gave a verdict that they had come to their death by damps.

Mr. Calvert was 22 years old and leaves a wife and four months old child. His remains were laid away in the Baptist cemetery Sunday. Mr. Tontrip was a bachelor and was 55 years old. His remains were taken to Savannah for burial Monday.

The entire community extends its sympathy to the bereaved ones.

It is our painful duty to announce the death of Mr. Jacob Calvert, an old and much beloved citizen. He has heretofore been troubled with heart disease. Last year he took a trip to Colorado, which seemed to agree with him, and he disposed of his property here with a view of removing soon to Colorado to remain permanently. Wednesday he was about as usual, and superintended the stacking of some grain. At night he complained of a pain in the breast, and walked the the [sic] floor in great pain, and died at 2 o'clock yesterday morning, before relief could be given. He had two children, a son and a daughter. The latter is the wife of Mr. Vinal G. Faires, who, with the son, Julius Calvert, are not in Colorado attending to their mining interests. The funeral took place from the Sixth Street M. E. Church, last evening. The deceased was a pure, upright, honest, loveable man, having the respect of every one by whom he was known, and whose death will be mourned by the entire community as a loss which can not be replaced. Mrs. Tatlock was born in Putnam county, Indiana, June 22, 1820, and was consequently 61 years old. She came with her husband, Mr. Miles Tatlock, to Davis county, Iowa, in 1842, and has been a resident of the State nearly all the time since. She leaves five children, all grown, three sons and two daughters. The latter, Mrs. E. M. Mitchell of Savannah, Mo., and Mrs. F. M. Hunter of Scandia, Kansas, were here at the funeral. Mrs. Tatlock was a quiet, dignified, Christian lady, whose elevated pure life and many graces of character, endeared her to all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance.

After a lingering illness, which was most patiently and heroically endured, Mrs. Malinda Hambaugh, known to almost every old citizen of Cameron, passed away at her late home on North main st., at 8 o'clock Sunday evening, in the presence of her two daughters, Mrs. Harris and Mrs. Newberry, who have been constantly beside her during the long illness of their aged mother.

Mrs. Hambaugh, whose maiden name was Malinda Cameron, was a Tennessean, being born in that State May 17, 1807. Her residence there, however, was short, for she came to Missouri with her parents, when five years old, and settled in Clay county, where she reached her maturity and married Sam'l McCorkle, in December, 1825. She came with her husband to this vicinity in 1835, locating in DeKalb county, about a mile north of what is now the city of Cameron, but what was then an open prairie. They were virtually the first settlers here; others soon followed and became neighbors. In the fall of 1855 the present town was laid out by Sam'l McCorkle who possessed 1,000 acres of these lands and the new town was called Cameron, in honor of his wife. Sam'l McCorkle died in 1856. He was the father of seven children, only three of whom still live--two daughters and one son. The son, A. J. McCorkle, resides in Jamestown, Colo., and the daughters, Mrs. Susan Harris and Lydia E. Newberry live here, where they have made their home and looked after the welfare of their indulgent mother.

Mrs. Sam'l McCorkle was married to Thos. Hambaugh in April, 1866. In the summer of 1874 he died, leaving no children as the fruit of their union.

Mrs. Hambaugh had ten grandchildren, they being Walter F. Newberry of Chicago, Sam'l Newberry, San Diego, Cal., Mrs. Ellen Darby in this city and the seven children of Mr. McCorkle, of Jamestown, Colo.

Though lacking but two months of being 81 years old, Mrs. Hambaugh possessed wonderful vitality up to a month or six weeks ago, when she was taken ill and grew weaker day by day until the end was reached and she was summoned by the Relentless Messenger on Sunday.

The deceased was a woman of many kindly traits, extremely social and friendly to all, making friends among all classes and by her broad charity setting an example it were noble to follow.

The funeral occurs at 2 p.m. tomorrow, at the First Baptist church and the remains will be interred beside those of her husband at the McDaniel cemetery. And then will be laid to rest one of the pioneer settlers of northwest Missouri, and for 33 years a resident of Cameron.

Mrs. Sarah Mackey

Died at her home on Hackberry Monday, Jan. 21, 1907, at 4 p.m. Sarah Cameron was born in Clay county Aug. 21, 1826. Dec. 22, 1842, she was united in marriage to John O. Mackey, Mrs. E. M. Waterson, Mr. E. L. Bussell and Mrs. W. G. Apley, of Nebraska, and Mrs. A. G. Wright, of Texas, children of her deceased daughter Mrs. Lizzie Bussell. She united with the Christian church in 1865 and continued steadfast in her faith until death. Grandma, as she was familiarly called, will be greatly missed by a large number of friends-- having lived in the same neighborhood since 1844. To know her was to love her, and her good counsel and deeds of kindness will be long remembered by her many friends. This has ended a long and useful life. Our loss is her gain, and heaven is surely richer, for Grandma is there.

The funeral was conducted from the family residence by Rev. A. R. Hunt and the interment in the Old Baptist Cemetery.

Died of consumption at her father's residence, Mr. J. H. Campbell, four miles west of Barnard, in Nodaway county, Missouri, on the 18th day of February, 1894, Mrs. Alice E. Cliser.

Sister Cliser was born in Monroe county, Indiana, March 21st, 1860. Became a member of the Church of Christ in her fourteenth year. Was married to David M. Cliser September 19th, 1880. To this marriage was born two children, Orion, who is twelve years of age and Maudie, who is nine. The deceased leaves a husband, father and mother, three brothers and one sister, Mrs. Lou Blagg, to mourn her absence. But they mourn not, as those who have no hope. Sister Cliser was truly a dutiful daughter, a true and devoted wife, an affectionate mother and with all a Christmas woman. From the happy day, when in the blush of womanhood, she espoused the cause of Christ, 'till her sun of mortal life went down, she was true to her calling. She loved the Truth for Truth's sake. She served God from principle, not for show. Religion with her was a reality and not a bubble. None knew her but to love her, as was voiced by the long and solemn cortege that mournfully followed her pale face and pulseless form to its last resting place. She will be missed not only in the home from which her absence is felt so keenly, but from society as well.

The funeral services took place at Bethany Church in the presence of a very large and sympathizing audience. At the close of the sermon the following poem was recited in behalf of the two motherless children and is here reproduced by request:

Snow, on the bosom [sic] that sheltered us so,
Unrelenting and cold the black winds that blow.*

*Oft' have thine eyes grown dim with sad tears,
Guiding our wayward feet through the past years;
Planing [sic] our future with hopes and with fears;
Still ever faithful 'til the summons she hears.*

*Will you remember the ones you caressed.
Bent over, wept over, hushed on your breast;
With your glad lullabys into sweet rest,
Oh, thy memory, dear mother, will ever be blessed.*

*Rest, mother rest, thy toils are o'r;
Sweet be thy slumbers, oft needed before,

And has taken you away to that bright happy shore.*

In last week's Reporter was a brief notice of Mr. Andrew H. Campbell, of Monroe township, being struck by lightning. We have since learned the following particulars:

It seems Mr. Campbell had been to his brother's farm in the northeast part of the country, to get a load of corn, and had started on his return; his little daughter, aged about 10 years, accompanying him. Not being near any house when overtaken by the storm, Mr. Campbell halted his team, took off his coat, which he gave to the little girl for protection against the rain, and was standing near his team beneath an umbrella at the time of the accident. So heavy was the bolt that descended that Mr. Campbell and the horses standing nearest to him, and the little girl standing at the rear end of the wagon, fell at the same instant. The little girl, however, soon came to her senses and went immediately to her father, turned him over and found that he yet breathed. She started to run to the nearest house, about three-fourths of a mile distant, but thinking the team would not be safe, she returned and placed her hand upon her father's heart and found that it had ceased to beat. By this time the injured horse had regained its feet. The little girl immediately summoned the nearest neighbors and the body of Mr. Campbell was taken to his home. The shock to the unfortunate wife and family at home, occasioned by this sad news, can neither be described nor imagined.

Mr. Campbell was a highly respected member of Castle Grange, No. 722, and the members of that grange turned out en masse and conducted the burial ceremonies in a manner that showed the respect due the deceased. In the death of Mr. Campbell is lost the love of a good husband, the protection of a kind father, and the citizenship of an honored neighbor. The family are left with means for their support, but in their sad affliction they have the sympathy of the entire community.

Henry Campbell, 64 years old, was killed yesterday afternoon by being run over by the local freight on the Burlington. The accident occurred at about 4 o'clock at a point about one-half mile south of Bridgewater. The engineer and fireman on the train did not see the man on the track and did not know of the accident until the train had gone about a mile, the train being stopped at that time to permit a fireman to see what was knocking under the engine tender. A part of the body was found lodged between the bottom of the tender and the brake beams. Both arms and one leg were severed from the body, the other leg was almost cut off and the head and torso were horribly mutilated.

Campbell had been at Barnard and was walking home being near the track one mile south of Arkoe. It is said he had received a shipment of liquor at Barnard and part of the liquor was found in his pockets after the accident. It is presumed he had gone to sleep on the track.

Lowell Campbell, undertaker at Barnard, was called by the railroad officials to go to the scene of the accident and take charge of the remains. They were taken to the undertaking parlors of Barnard and Dr. Will Wallis, coroner, was notified. The inquest will not be held until this evening.

Funeral services have not been definitely arranged, but will probably be held tomorrow afternoon at the Swinford church, conducted by Rev. J. L. Bilby of Barnard, pastor of the Methodist church at Arkoe. Interment will be in the Swinford cemetery.

Rebecca Jane Bagby (nee Campbell) was born in Flemon county, Kentucky, June 6th, 1812, and died April 23d, 1898, hence she was 85 years, 10 months and 17 days old at the time of her death.

She was married to Mr. Robert Bagby, February 8th, 1838, with whom she lived happily 'till December 21st, 1884, when the Lord took him to Himself. To them were born eleven children, six of whom are still living, five having preceded their mother to the spirit world.

There were born to Sister Bagby twenty-seven grand-children, twenty of whom are living, and there were forty-nine great-grand-children, thirty-six of whom are yet living. Sister Bagby professed religion and united with the Methodist church in her girlhood days, the exact date of which event is not known, but it was when she was quite young; so we can safely say she was for more than half a century a faithful follower of the meek and lowly Jesus.

Sister Bagby simply died of old age and general debility and was for some eight months or more confined almost entirely to her bed, but during her long confinement her faith did not fail her, and constantly she realized the presence of the Good Shepherd, so that when she came 'to walk through the valley of the shadow of death' she did not fear evil for He was with her. 'His rod and staff comforted her.' Just two days before her death she told the writer that God was with her and Jesus was very precious, and during a service in her room she became very happy and rejoiced all that her strength would allow.

Her funeral discourse was preached by the writer, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Joseph Sullivan, on Sunday, April 24, to a large congregation of sympathizing friends and neighbors, after which was laid to rest in the Groves cemetery, whence she will come in that great day of the resurrection.

Robert Thomas Campbell was born in Fleming County Kentucky, July 27, 1839. He came with his parents when 12 years of age to Clay Count, Missouri, after residing there a few years they moved to Nodaway County.

He was married to Ruth Caroline Hedgpeth, October 25, 1860 near Graham, Nodaway County.

To this union eight children were born namely: Francis [sic] Eleanor, nee [sic] Mrs. E. E. Russell, who died some ten years ago, Mary Pricilla [sic] who died in young womanhood, James Robert and Albert Arthur, both of whom are living in North Grove community, Rose Elizabeth who resides in the parental home, Flora, nee Mrs. W. M. Tinker of Monmouth Illinois, Dolly who died in infancy and Gladys dying at the age of seven years.

At the out-break of the Civil War his sympathies were with the Confederacy. In 1861 he enlisted in the Confederate army, Company A, Third Missouri Cavalry and remained in service till the close of the war, realizing the cause for which he fought was lost, he has venerated and loved the flag of his country and maintained a high standard of citizenship ever since.

At the close of the war he went to Sarpy County Nebraska and remained there for five years after which he moved again to Nodaway County in the Spring of 1870 and in the Spring of 1878 moved to his farm in North Grove neighborhood, and lived there until thirteen year [sic] ago in March, moving then to Elmo where he lived till the close of his life.

During the winter of 1874 in a series of meetings conducted by a Rev. Mr. Hays a Cumberland Presbyterian Minister, held at North Grove school house he professed religion and soon after united with the M. E. Church South at that place and become [sic] a charter member of that class. Bro. Campbell has had the advocate in his home from the time he united with the church until his death. In many ways 'Uncle Bob' (as he was generally known) was a unique character. He was never found giving offense and was ready at all times to respond to a needy world and his church.

His going will be greatly felt by the community and the church. He leaves a wife four children, two sons and two daughters, one sister, Mrs. Mary Hedgpeth of Skidmore, twelve grandchildren and five great-grand children. A number of nephews and nieces and several cousins. The end of this beautiful life came July 6, 1:20 a.m. 1922.

The funeral was conducted at the M. E. Church, South of Elmo to a large congregation by the writer. The floral offering was beautiful and revealed the love and esteem the people had for him. The body was laid to rest in the North Prairie cemetery.

May God bless and keep the bereaved family.

Dr. Smith Vawter Campbell, for a number of years one of the prominent figures and well known physicians of Northwest Missouri, died at his home in North Maryville at 3:30 o'clock Saturday morning.

His death resulted from paralysis. Seven weeks ago, on January 11th, he was stricken and since that time had gradually grown weaker until the hour of his death.

Dr. Campbell was born on a farm near Vernon, Jennings county, Indiana, August 26, 1832.

After graduating in medicine from Ann Arbor University he was married to Miss Carrie Davis of Lebanon, Indiana, February 20, 1854. The young doctor and his bride resided at Lebanon for a short time, after which they moved west to Des Moines, Iowa. At the outbreak of the civil war Dr. Campbell enlisted as assistant surgeon in the 23d Iowa Volunteer Infantry, in which capacity he gave four and one-half years of faithful and honorable service to his country.

The war over he located in Adel, Iowa, where he again took up the practice of his profession. In the years '78 he moved with his family from Adel to Maryville. Here he at once established himself as an able and popular physician.

Since the death of Mrs. Campbell-- to whom he was ever the devoted lover-- which occurred in '96 the doctor has taken less and less interest in life and devoted less and less time to his profession, his concluding years being mostly spent in well-earned retirement from active business.

William A. Campbell was born in Des Moines, Iowa, December 19, 1857, and died in Maryville, Mo., June 26, 1891. His boyhood years were spent in attending school. After receiving a good graded school education, he learned the drug trade. He then attended Cornell College at Mt. Vernon, Iowa., for two years, after which he took charge of a drug business at Atlantic, Iowa. He was after that appointed clerk in the United States land office, where he served for four years, which place he resigned after the election of Mr. Cleveland. He then went to southwest Kansas where he took a homestead. After proving up on this he came home to Maryville. While here he engaged for a short time in business with Will Toel, but this business interest he soon sold, and was appointed chief clerk in the U. S. land office at Seattle, Washington Territory. Those who did business with him say he was an expert in public lands. While in this office he transferred thousands of acres of land and handled millions of dollars of money for the department with great credit to himself, honor to his friends and satisfaction to the general government.

Will was converted and joined the M. E. church at the age of twenty, under the ministry of Dr. M. K. Stuart, now pastor of Broadway M. E. church, Council Bluffs, Iowa. Like many other young men he wandered away, but joined the church again under the ministry of Rev. J. H. Cox, Feb. 5, 1889, just a short time before he left for the Pacific coast. With the rest of humanity he had his faults, nor was he without his weaknesses, yet he combined those noble qualities which make up the character that is a strong friend, a lover of the noble and a hater of that which is small or mean. He was a great lover of home and always called the home of his father and mother his 'home.' He was ever thoughtful of the comfort and pleasure of his mother and sisters, and nothing gave him more pleasure than to add to their comfort and happiness. Even to the very last hour of life he persisted in caring for himself, rather than give them any extra labor or anxiety. During his sickness while yet on the Pacific coast, he longed to get home, for he said, 'There is no one who can care for me like mother, and if there is anybody can pull me through father can.' He was a great sufferer, yet he patiently bore it and sought to hide his sufferings from his friends, but it was only too evident to all that he had only a short time to live. Tender hands did all that could be done, loving hearts devised many comforts, and breathed words of prayer and sympathy, but all in vain. On the evening of June 26, just after the sun had sunk in the west and the evening shades were stealing over the earth, he breathed his last. On the Monday morning after we laid him to rest in the beautiful resting place of the silent sleepers who have ceased to live, to await the time 'When all that are in their graves shall hear the voice of the Son of God and shall come forth,' when friend, lover, brother, sister, parent and son shall under

Word was received Monday that Mrs. Willis Carlisle, a former resident of Savannah, had quietly passed away on Easter Sunday morning at her home in Syracuse, N. Y. She had been confined to her bed for some weeks with an incurable malady and when pneumonia developed, all hopes for her recovery were abandoned. The news of her death comes with peculiar sadness because of the three children who are thus left to meet life's battles without father or mother.

Mrs. Carlisle's husband, the late Willis P. Carlisle, was pastor of the Savannah M. E. Church, South, at the time of his death six years ago. He was the founder and teacher of the Savannah Business Men's Bible Class and his name is honored and revered by every member of the class. Mrs. Carlisle was an unusual woman, gentle of voice and manner, plain and unassuming in all her ways. A woman of high ideals and a great appreciation of the best in music and literature. She moved to Syracuse in order to give to her children the advantages of the university at that place, and the oldest daughter, Miriam, is now a member of the senior class. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at Gassard, Ill., and her body placed in rest beside that of her deceased husband.

The sympathy of Savannah friends is extended to those who will feel her loss most keenly. She has left to them an heritage that is worth far more than rubies.

About four o'clock before his passing at ten o'clock Thursday morning he requested a song 'How Firm a Foundation' and assisted in its singing and told those about him, 'I am on the right road. It is glorious further on.' Throughout he had some word of comfort and encouragement. Never a sign of impatience and even to the last just before he went to sleep he would open his eyes and smile and recognize those about him. The happiness and the dissertations of this man of God are like the inspired sages of old.

He made every arrangement and was anxious to relieve his family of any burden and said that he was not sad but happy as it was His will and wished no dirges and not a sad funeral but memorial exercises and let none thing of it as sad and as far as possible his requests are to be obeyed and memorial services will be held this afternoon at the M. E. Church, South, and burial will take place at Gossett in Southern Illinois.

In 1907 it says of Rev. Carlisle in the Centennial Volume of Methodism: 'Of fine physique, cultured in manner, strong in mind and living in the daily presence of the Eternal, in the very prime of life, Got hath a greater future for this man of worth.'

An extended biography will be published next week for he has done much and was only forty-three years old.

Rev. Willis S. Carlisle, pastor of the South M. E. church, died at 10 o'clock a.m., Wednesday [sic], January 2, after a short illness from Bright's disease. Several weeks ago he was informed by physicians that the disease had made such inroads already that only a few months more of life, at most, remained for him. With his wife Rev. Carlisle went for a time to Hot Springs Ark. A cold contracted there hastened his return home and since that time he has failed steadily and rapidly. The end came Wednesday morning after many hours of patient, heroic suffering. Conscious practically all the time, although in a dying condition all day Tuesday, the many friends who had wished to extend aid and sympathy, were permitted to see him. For each he had a greeting and a message of remembrance. He died a noble Christian death, undismayed, uncomplaining, loyal to the end to the cause to which he had devoted his life, and tenderly thoughtful of his wife and children. He was but 43 years of age. Services will be held this Friday afternoon at the church, after which his remains will be taken to his former home in Gossett, Illinois.

Rev. Willis Carlisle was born in Kentucky, August 20, 1869. Departed this life in Savannah, Mo., January 2, 1913.

In early life he moved with his parents to Southern Illinois, and received his education in the Omaha, Illinois, Male Academy, Owensville, Indiana, High School and Indiana Normal University, graduating therefrom in the class of '89. After teaching three years in the public schools of Indiana and Illinois, he came to Missouri as principal of the Jackson school. Being convinced that his calling was to preach the gospel, he entered the St. Louis Conference of the M. E. Church, South, in 1893 and was appointed by Bishop Duncan to the Presidency of the Methodist College at Jackson, Missouri. In 1899 he resigned this position and transferred to the Missouri Conference that he might engage in the active work of the ministry. He served three years as Presiding Elder of the St. Charles District and two years as financial secretary of the Central College. Thinking to prepare himself for greater usefulness in the church, he spent three years in Syracuse University, New York, taking his A. B. in the classical course and specializing in Philosophy. Was all this preparation in vain? Will forty-three years of earth-life end the activity of this trained mind? Nay, verily! Earth is just the preparatory school where he made ready to enter the university of Heaven. Methinks the great Bishop of our Souls will appoint unto him a place worth of his talents.

He loved the work of the church above all the things of earth. Many times during his last sickness he said, 'How I would love to go on with the work, if it is the Lord's will.' Anxious to live if he could do a man's work in the world, but preferring above all else to be in harmony with the will of his divine Lord. Much as he had talked of his desire after being told by the physician that there was no hope, he accepted this as he had other disappointments in life, with a cheerful smile, and began planning to spend his last hours in work for the Master. He called for many of the men in and out of the church who were his friends, and as they came to bid him goodbye, he did not fail to 'speak a good word for Jesus Christ.' Not soon will his words of encouragement and entreaty be forgotten. In speaking of his Business Men's Bible Class, which was and [sic] pride of his heart, he said, 'I have never served a church where I loved the men of the community with as pure love as I love the Savannah men.' Such love will not go unrewarded.

As the end drew nearer, the friends at his bedside began singing, 'How firm a foundation, ye saints of the Lord, Is laid for your faith, in his excellent word.' He turned his head until his eyes rested upon the singers and with a radiant smile began saying the words as they sang and at the conclusion of the song he said with great emphasis, 'that's glorious.' When he could no longer speak he smiled his greeting to all who came in the room. The end came peacefully and painlessly Thursday morning at 9:55.

Bone, T. M. Taylor and J. T. McDonald.

The floral offerings were many and beautiful. It was the desire of the family that each friend upon leaving the church, be presented with a flower as a sacred memento and so these beautiful roses went into the homes of the community, shedding their beauty and fragrance as a reminder of the life and teachings of him who had gone. Many friends gathered at the station to clasp hands with the wife and children as they started upon their sad journey to Gossett, Ill., to lay the form of their beloved dead beside the two babies and other relatives in Mount Oval cemetery. Their sorrow is unspeakable, but the same faith which carried him through the valley with a smile upon his lips, will enable them to take up the burdens of life smiling bravely through their tears. May the God whom he delighted to serve be their comforter.

A Friend.

At his request a memorial service was held at the M. E. church South, Friday afternoon. Short talks were made by Sam Murphy, Sam Wells, G. F. Nardin and A. J. Quirin in behalf of the local church and community. St. Joseph ministers taking part in the service were, Dr. C. H. Briggs, Presiding Elder, St. Joseph District, H. C. McPherson, B. P. Taylor and J. T. McDonald.

The floral offerings were many and beautiful. It was the desire of the family that each friend upon leaving the church, be presented with a flower as a sacred memento and these beautiful roses went into the homes of the community, shedding their beauty and fragrance as a reminder of the life and teachings of him who had gone. Many friends gathered at the Station to clasp hands with the wife and children as they started upon their sad journey to Gossett, Illinois, to lay the form of their beloved dead beside the two babies [sic] and other relatives in Mount Oval cemetery.

Their sorrow is unspeakable but the same faith which carried him through the valley with a smile upon his lips, will enable them to take up their burdens of life smiling bravely through their tears. May the God whom he delighted to serve be their Comforter.

A Friend.

Union Star. August 20. Mr. A. R. Carman departed this life on Sunday evening, after being confined to his bed one week with typhoid fever. He leaves a wife and six children, all girls, to mourn his loss. Although a hard working man, he left his family in rather poor circumstances to battle with the world, but with that generous principle that is characteristic among our people they have responded to the appeal of the destitute until upwards of $200 have been subscribed. Mr. Carman was a thorough Christian and his dying remarks to his family and friends were very touching.

Rochester, Mo., September 8.—Last night William Carmony [sic] was drowned in Platte River, at about 10 o'clock. He was on his way home from Helena, and when within about one-half mile of home the road passed within fifty or sixty feet of the river. At this point his wagon struck a stump, throwing him out. After regaining his feet he wandered up and down the road, and finally leaving the road he tumbled over the bank into the river, where he was found this morning. From appearances he made a fearful struggle to regain the bank. He has many acquaintances in St. Joseph.

Last Wednesday morning two men who were driving a team up the east bank of Platte river, a mile and a half north of Rochester, discovered a team standing just at the side of the road, with the wheels locked in a big snag. A man's hat lay not far from the wagon, which was about twenty feet from the river. Blood was spattered around and tracks led to the river, the bank of which is about four feet high. In the meantime it was ascertained that the team belonged to William Carmody, who lived a quarter of a mile farther up the river, and that he was missing. It then became a certainty [sic] that his body would be found in the river. A pair of grab hoos were procured and on the fourth throw they dragged out the dead body of William Carmody. His nose was cut, and it is surmised that he drove the team up against the snag, and was thrown on the horses, one of which kicked him on the nose; that he went to the river to wash his face, and that he fell in and was unable to get out, but the banks showed that he had made a desperate struggle to get out. The body was found about twenty feet from the shore. About three weeks ago Carmody had sale bills printed at the Toothpick office, and his sale was set for the 10th, yesterday. He was going to move to St. Joseph, from which place he moved to where he has been living the past year. He was about 38 years of age and leaves a family.-- Union Star Toothpick.

Helena. About 8 o'clock on Wednesday evening last a sad case of drowning occurred in the Platte river, about 1/2 mile north of Rochester. Mr. Wm. Carmody started from Helena in a two-horse wagon to go to his home, which was about three miles southwest of Helena, and while driving along Platte river about a mile from his home, his wagon was caught on a stump, and from general indications the supposition is that he endeavored to get the wagon off the stump and in doing so received a severe kick from one of the horses, breaking his nose and crushing in the facial bones, which injury crazed him and he wandered along to the river and fell into a deep hole and was drowned. He was found next morning about twenty feet from where he went in, under twelve feet of water. A coroner's jury was summoned and decided that he had come to his death by accidental drowning. He leaves a wife and one child to mourn his loss. Mr. Carmody was a highly respected, hard working man and the community greatly regret [sic] his accidental death. He was buried in St. Joseph by one of the orders to which he belonged.

Mrs. Charity Davis (nee Carpenter) was born in Hancock county, Ohio, May 6th, 1818, and died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ellen Bishop, in Douglas county, Mo., with whom she lived for many years, December 16, 1899, aged 81 years, 7 months, and 12 days.

In the seventeenth year of her age, she, with her father, moved to Wood county, Ohio, in which county shortly afterward she was happily converted and joined the Methodist church, having been a member of said church, at her death, sixty-four years.

At the age of sixteen she was married to Thomas Davis, and a few years afterward moved to Andrew county, Mo., where they lived two years, thence to Nodaway county, Mo. To this union seven children were born. Two are left to mourn, viz.: Mrs. H. C. Davis, who resides in Washington county, Oregon, and Mrs. Mary Saffell, whose residence is in Jefferson county, Nebraska.

In 1856 she was married to Jackson D. Slaughter. To this union two children were born, viz.: Mr. Thomas B. Slaughter, a prosperous farmer and shipped who resides on the old homestead near Skidmore, Mo., and Mrs. Ellen Bishop who lives in Douglas county, Mo.

For three years Grandma Davis was a helpless invalid and a great sufferer, yet we are told that she bore her affliction with Christian fortitude. When the end came she was ready to go, and expressed herself to that effect. Her kind son, Mr. Thomas B. Slaughter, had her body brought to Skidmore, Mo., at his own expense, from which place it was taken to his home, three miles northeast of town, Tuesday evening.

On Wednesday December 20, 1899 at 11 o'clock a.m. funeral services were conducted in the Skidmore M. E. church, South, by the writer, before a very large concourse of relatives and friends, after which kind hands laid her body to rest in the Smith cemetery by the side of her husband, Thomas Davis, and five children, to await the resurrection.

May the God of all grace sustain the bereaved, and may they meet in a fairer realm.

Mrs. Ellen Carpenter Meredith, aged 83 who contracted pneumonia while coming to Wichita from Englewood to spend Christmas with relatives in this city, died yesterday shortly afternoon at the home of S. T. Jocelyn, 921 Wiley avenue. She made a gallant fight for life but her age is said by the attending physician to have been against her.

Grandma Meredith, as she was known by her many friends, was born in Ohio on October 82 years ago. Her birthplace was Granville, near Columbus, where her brothers had a wholesale house. Her husband William Meredith, a Confederate soldier, lost his life while with General Price's army in Arkansas. Where, was not definitely known. In 1886 she came to Kansas with her two daughters, Mrs. Nellie Nessly and Mrs. Tom Alexander and in 1888 settled in Wichita.

Besides her two daughters she is survived by twelve grandchildren and several great grandchildren. The grandchildren are Mrs. S. T. Jocelyn, wife of Sedgwick county's divorce proctor; Mrs. L. C. Wright, wife of a real estate dealer in this city; J. E. Alexander, lawyer of this city; Lloyd, Arthur, Earl, William and Wayne Alexander, of Englewood; Curtis Alexander, of Hutchinson; Mrs. Ray Quackenbush, Wichita; Mrs. Loren Golding, of Winfield; and Miss Jessie Alexander of Wichita.

Grandmother Meredith was a lovely character and in the evening of her life her thoughts were all for others, how to make them happier and how to spread just a little more sunshine in the world. She was a Methodist and a firm believer in the teachings of Christianity.

The funeral will be held Monday afternoon at 2:30 from the home of Mrs. Jocelyn in Central Riverside. The body will be buried in Wichita.

It is with feelings of [illegible] record the death of Emma, daughter of D. and A. Carpenter who was so suddenly called away on the 14th inst. Her affliction was of a short duration. Though her sufferings were intense, she bore all patiently and without a murmur seeming to fully realize that her sufferings would soon be over. After taking an affectionate leave of the family and friends present and requesting us to bid all of her schoolmates good-by and tell them to meet her in Heaven, she met death calmly, falling asleep in the arms of her Redeemer. The funeral services were conducted in a most appropriate and impressive manner by Elder Cook at the M. E. Church, in Quitman, Saturday, 15th at 1 o'clock P.M. From whence the body was conveyed to its last resting place, followed by a large concourse of weeping friends and relatives. Emma though young in years, not having attained her fifteenth year, had by her kind and cheerful disposition gained the affection of many a fond heart. Her smiles was [sic] the light of the household as well as of the social circle in which she moved. She was an energetic student full of vigor and hope, being fully determined to complete her education and make herself useful as a teacher. In her centered the hopes of a fond father and loving mother. But alas, how perishable are human pursuits and human hopes. Only three days after reciting with her classes in the school room her spirit took its flight to the God who gave it. Her place in the family circle and in the school room can never be filled. The bereft family have the heart felt sympathies of all in this sad hour. May they together with the loved ones gone before be so unspeakably happy as to be clothed with the garments of the redeemed in the morning of eternity is the sincere prayer of her teacher.

Again the sad duty devolves on us to chronicle the decease of one of Nodaway county's honored and influential citizens. On last Friday night when surrounded by his family and many warm personal friends, F. M. Carpenter closed his earthly career, his spirit 'crossing over the river to rest under the shade of the tree.' Mr. Carpenter's sickness was of rather brief duration, but it was severe. He bore all his sufferings with calmness and fortitude. He was buried on Sunday, at Quitman, with Masonic honors, by Quitman Lodge, No. 196, A.F. and A.M., of which Lodge he was a worthy and highly respected member. Several Masons from other lodges were present. A. P. Morehouse, W. M., and H. M. Jackson, S. D., of Maryville Lodge No. 165 were in attendance. Mr. Morehouse conducted the burial ceremonies in an impressive manner in accordance with the ancient customs and usages of the order. The procession following the remains from the residence to the cemetery was at least a mile in length. It was one of the largest funeral occasions ever known in the county. This speaks louder than words of the great esteem in which the deceased was held by his neighbors and acquaintances. Mr. Carpenter, in every respect, was a man of exemplary character, an intelligent, generous, philanthropic, kind-hearted man and a useful and upright citizen. The community in which he lived sustains a great loss in his death. Mr. Carpenter had been a member of the M. E. Church, South, for many years. He leaves a wife and three children to mourn his loss. The Masonic fraternity loses a valuable member in his decease. But the order in common with his friends and relatives can have the consolation that he has entered into a higher and better state of existence, into the celestial lodge on high where the Supreme Architect of the universe presides. 'Blessed are they who died in the Lord.'

Those living are, in order of their ages, Mrs. Nettie [sic<sup>5</sup>] Ann Brewer, wife of John Brewer, of Bolckow, Mrs. Margaret Jane Rankin, wife of James Rankin, of Rosendale, Reason Carpenter, of Cosby, and John M. Carpenter, of Rosendale. The dead are W. E., Henry O., and Carrie B., who was the wife of Everett Muir. Last Sunday George P. Carpenter, one of the leading farmers of Atchison township, departed this life at his home near Clearmont after being confined to his bed for 15 days with Typhoid fever. Mr. Carpenter was one of the oldest residents and most highly respected citizens of Nodaway county. He was born in Indiana in 1847 and moved to Nodaway county with his father, George Carpenter, and settled on the place where he has since resided when a lad of nine years. He was united in marriage Sept. 12th, 1867, to Miss Jennette Ringold, a most esteimable [sic] lady, who with their five children still survive [sic] him. During the war Mr. Carpenter served in Company C. 4th Missouri State Malitia [sic] Cavalry. George Carpenter was an honest, upright man in all his walks in life and his word was as good as his bond. For years he and his wife have been members of the Baptist church. His death while in the very prime of life is a great blow to his devoted wife and children, but they are consoled with the blessed assurrance [sic] that some day they will meet the loved one in that land where there is neither sorrow or death. His remains were laid to rest in the Hazel Dell cemetery on Monday last, Rev. Wallace conducting services, the large attendance at his funeral attesting how highly he was esteemed in the community where he had resided for so many years.

One of the saddest deaths was that of Hubert Carpenter, the youngest son of D. E. Carpenter and wife, who lived in this county but a short time ago moved to Union star, and are well known over the county. Hubert was not quite twenty-four years old and had accomplished so very much, and capable to produce a great influence during the coming fifty years allotted to him. The cleanest of moral records was his. Superior intelligence and love of work led him to do more than his body could stand. During the past school year he had almost two hundred under his charge at Lincoln University and that including farmer's institute work. At Christmas times [sic] he complained of being tired. On February 7 he came home in an exhausted, nervous collapse. On Friday he wrote several letters and was up about the house, ate supper and retired. At 11 p.m. Mrs. Carpenter went to his room and found him asleep and he replied that he was comfortable, and again his reply was the same and that he had been asleep at 2:30. [sic] At 5 a.m. he was found dead, lying as though asleep as before with covers undisturbed. He had suffered from severe pains at the base of the brain, the neck and down the spinal column throughout his illness. The collection of blood at the base of the brain, the neck had caused a darkened condition of the skin and the physician said death was due to cerebro hemorrhage, sometime after 2:30 Saturday morning, March 7. At the time he was stricken with his last illness he was superintendent of the department of Animal Husbandry at the State University of Lincoln, Neb., having had charge of that department since October 1, 1913. He was born in Andrew county, October 22, 1890. After completing his school course at Union Star, he attended William Jewell College at Liberty, taking a literary course which was completed at the State University in Columbia as a secondary course, taking Animal Husbandry as the principal work. Graduating from this course at Columbia he was appointed Superintendent of Animal Husbandry at the State University at Athens, Georgia, which position he held until he took charge of the same department at Lincoln University. Rev. W. L. Scarborough assisted by Rev. Dayhoff had charge of the funeral and Smith Henry Carpenter was born on the 13th of February, 1869, at Parfrey Ville, Wisconsin. When he was still in his infancy, his parents moved to Marysville [sic], Missouri. The family lived there for four years, after which they moved to Kansas, locating at Jamestown. Here Smith grew to manhood. Here, also, when a young man, he was converted and joined the Free Baptist Church at that place. In 1897 the deceased came to Douglas and since that time he has resided in this vicinity. On the 8th of October, 1901, Smith Carpenter was married to Nora Stella Hibbs, of Burr. To this union eight children were born: Vera Belle, Edward Kenneth, Cecil Wesley, Harold Samuel, Raymond LeRoy, Doris, Della and Bernard Allen.

Smith had been suffering for some time. Last spring he was in the sanitarium at Lincoln, and after taking treatment there returned home very much improved. However, on the 1st day of October, he again took sick. This time it was soon found that the chances of recovery were very slight. He returned home where he lingered, getting slowly weaker. It was apparently that there were no hopes and he passed peacefully to the great beyond in the early hours of Thursday morning, November 22, 1917, at the age of forty-eight years, nine months and nine days.

Smith Carpenter was a well known resident of this place. His cheerfulness, which manifested practically to the end, was a prominent trait in his character. For eighteen years he had been an active member of Cubit Lodge, No. 237, of Douglas, Nebraska. He at one time held the office of Master. His faith in God was evident. At different times during his illness, he said that if he had to go, he was perfectly reconciled to God and was fully trusting Him.

His wife, the eight children previously mentioned, two brothers, John Lewis, of Douglas and Charles T. Edson of Waverly, Iowa, one sister, Minnie Etta, of Douglas, an uncle, Rev. Charles Emmett Carpenter, of Hollis, Kansas, many other relatives and a host of friends are left to mourn his loss. He has gone to the great beyond to meet face to face Him in whom he placed his trust.

Susan Carpenter was born in Kentucky December 15, 1827; after moving to Missouri with her parents she was married to Daniel H. Robertson at Fayetteville [sic], Mo. 1843. In 1855 they moved to Nebraska and she has resided in Humboldt and vicinity forty-five years. Eight children blessed their home, seven of whom survive her and were with her in the last moments. Prince Robertson of Steinauer, Neb., Henry and James Robertson of Humboldt, Mrs. Eva Harding, Mrs. F. M. Williamson and Mrs. Anna Conner of Humboldt and Mrs. Mills of St. Joseph. She also had two brothers and one sister in California, and one brother, Mr. George Carpenter, of Rosendale, Mo., was present at the funeral. Few families are better known to the old or new settlers of this part of the state.

Her husband passed over the river ten years ago. She died at the home of her youngest daughter, Mrs. Harding at the ripe age of seventy two years, ten months and twenty-three days.

At four p.m., September 10th, her funeral was conducted from the Christian church, of which she was an honored member, by her pastor, Rev. W. A. Morrison. A very fitting sermon was preached from Psalm 23:40 after which the remains were interred at the Humboldt cemetery. She leaves many relatives and a host friends [sic] who mourn her departure.

Merrill Ross Carrel was born Sep. 29, 1908, five miles north of Clarksdale. At the age of three years with his parents Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Carrel, he came to Clarksdale where he died Jan. 15, 1919, at 4 o'clock A.M. of diptheria [sic]. His death was a shock to the community as he had been sick only a short time. His cheerful disposition and loving, happy way caused him to be loved by all who knew him. Beside the father and mother he leaves one brother, many relatives, friends and little playmates to mourn his going, and they will miss his sunny smile.

Sonoma, Aug. 28.-- Last night Boggs Carriger shot and killed his brother Wiliam in their bedroom on the Carriger farm, three miles west of town. After being shot the dying man took a few steps forward, when he fell to the floor. Robert Fowler, who was down stairs at the time, heard the shot ad, rushing up, saw that William had been wounded. He quickly saddled the horse and rode rapidly into town for a doctor and officers but when they arrived at the farm they found the man dead. Carriger is now under arrest. The story told by Boggs Carriger is that while handing a pistol to his brother it accidentally went off.

Santa Rosa, August 29.-- Albert Boggs Carriger, a son of Nicholas Carriger, one of the first settlers of Sonoma county, is in jail here, charged with the murder of his brother, William W. Carriger. Near where he is confined is Robert Fowler, the only person who was in the house where the shooting occurred, besides the two brothers.

The tragedy took place at the home of Wiliam Carriger, near Sonoma, last Saturday evening. From what has been learned from an inspection of the premises and from Fowler's statements it would appear that it was a clear case of murder, though it may be impossible to prove it so.

Boggs Carriger is a reckless, dissipated kind of man. He had been drinking some Saturday, and when he entered the house that evening he was in no enviable frame of mind. His brother and Fowler were eating supper when he came in, and he took a seat on the wood-box and waited until they had finished.

About 9 o'clock William said that as he was not feeling well he would go to bed. He went upstairs to his room, and in a few moments Boggs followed him.

Boggs had not been upstairs two minutes before the report of a revolver was heard and then a body fell to the floor.

Some Pre-1924 Obituaries (Ca)
(for people connected with Northwestern Missouri)
Transcribed by Monica Schirmer Eshelman, meshelman1@cox.net

Fowler ran to the bottom of the steps and met Boggs, who ran down crying that he had killed his brother. Fowler rushed upstairs and found William Carriger on the bed breathing his last. His brother had shot him and the ball had gone through his heart. He did not speak after the weapon was fired.

When the officers arrived at the place Sunday afternoon they made a careful examination of the premises.

Boggs was arrested at once and made a number of incoherent and conflicting statements. He claimed among other things that he went upstairs to get a revolver with which to shoot some 'varmints' that had been annoying the poultry for some time; that he met his brother, who tried to take the weapon away from him, and that it was accidentally discharged in the struggle.

It is claimed that Boggs had quarreled with his brother and had threatened to kill him.

Fowler told one of the officers that about half an hour before the tragedy the brothers had some words and that Boggs swore he would kill William if he did not look out.

The condition of the room where the tragedy took place and the blood stains would indicate that William was standing near the door and that when the fatal shot was fired he threw one hand up against the door to keep from falling and in falling clutched at a chair.

William Carriger was highly esteemed and was in every way a peaceful citizen. He was married, had no children and divorce proceedings have been pending between him and his wife for some time.

Boggs was left quite a fortune by his father, but soon ran through it. He has three children and with them has been living with his brother William for a number of years. He sent his children away Saturday morning, which has caused many to think the deed was premeditated and done for the purpose of getting rid of his brother.

A few years ago he shot and killed an Indian on slight provocation, and his statement in regard to the shooting does not obtain much credence in Sonoma, where he is known.

An inquest was held this morning and the jury returned a verdict to the effect that William Carriger came to his death by reason of a revolver shot fired by Albert Boggs Carriger.

Mrs. William Carriger sued her husband for a divorce some time ago and made a claim for alimony. The case would have been decided in a few days, and the death of her husband will not only save her a divorce but will give her an interest in William's estate, which is a very valuable one.

Nicholas Carriger, the father of Boggs and William, came to California in 1846 and served in the naval battalion under Lieutenant Revere. He built the first redwood house in Sonoma county and was one of the first vineyardists here.

Thomas Carroll was born in Kildare, Ireland, April 16, 1830, and died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. David Flynn, in Ravenwood, Missouri, October 3, 1916, having attained the ripe age of 86 years, 5 months and 16 days. Interment was made in the Catholic cemetery at Parnell, Missouri, by the side of his wife, the following day.

At the age of fifteen years he came with his mother and baby sister to this country, locating in New York where he engaged actively in the work of gaining a livelihood for himself, mother and little sister. Later he went to Ohio and in 1851 was united in marriage to Miss Ann Quinn at Springfield, that state. To them were born fourteen children-- eight of whom are dead and six living, as follows: Edward, Grant City; Mrs. David Flynn, Ravenwood; Mrs. Ira Hall, Des Moines, Iowa; Thomas, Jr., Newark, Arkansas; Mrs. J. L. Dawson, Grant City; John H. [sic], Chicago, Ill. Twenty-three grand children and fourteen great grandchildren also survive. The wife died February 26, 1912.

In the year 1864 Mr. Carroll with his family came to Missouri and located in Worth county and lived here continuously until his death. By industry and economy he had acquired considerable property.

Mr. Carroll was a man of rugged character and strong convictions of right. When he took a position it was because he believed it to be right and he never faltered in advocating it. He despised duplicity and hypocrisy and waged unceasing warfare against these enemies of mankind. He was genial and sociable in his companionship and loved his friends and stood by them until proven unworthy. He sympathized strongly with those against whom the tide of events did not run smoothly. No really needed applicant ever applied to him for aid and went away empty-handed. More men like him would make the world better because it would mean more real friends for the cause of charity and humanity. True to his ancestry and the teachings of his parents, he embraced the Catholic religion and died in the faith. After a sojourn here of more than four-score years he went down into dreamless dust, a benefaction to his children who, together with his many friends, will always recall his memory with kindness. Peace to the ashes of this grand old son of Erin who always longed to see his native country free so that she might take her rightful place in the constellation of republics.

Baby Ruth Carson, youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Carson, was born at New Point, Mo., September 5, 1903; died, February 22, 1917, at her home, aged 13 years, 5 months and 16 days. She was the youngest of a family of five children, two boys and three girls. Baby Ruth, several months ago, was taken with one of the dreaded disease of the human race, and walked patiently to an earthly grave. She leaves to mourn their loss, father, mother, two brothers, Elwin and Fred, and two sisters, Misses Roxie and Grace Carson, all at home, besides a host of relatives and friends. She was kind, thoughtful and loving in her childhood walk, and quickly made friends with every one she met.

Impressive funeral services were held from the New Point Christian church, Sunday, February 25, 1917, and were conducted by Elder B. H. Dawson. The beautiful casket was hidden from view by the many floral tributes, which came from relatives and friends, bearing their silent, but impressive evidence of the love in which this sweet character was held by them. The church was filled to its very capacity-- friends came from far and near to pay their last sad tribute to Ruth, so sweet, so gentle, so lovable. The interment was in the New Point cemetery.

Card of Thanks. We want to sincerely thank our friends and neighbors for the kindness shown us in the illness and death of our beloved child and sister, Baby Ruth Carson; to those who sent the floral offerings, and to each and every one for whatever they did to lighten the cross that has been given us to carry.

Scott Carson and family.

J. H. Carson, died Monday, October 18, 1909, very suddenly. He had been in good health for one of his years and was on his way home with his last load of potatoes, that he had raised on a small plot of ground in the north part of town. He had picked up potatoes during the forenoon, and had taken dinner at the home of his son, Frank. After dinner he remarked that he was ready for the potato patch again. His son, Frank, and Charles Holtslander were with him at the potato patch. They stopped at Mrs. Tallman's, and Mr. Carson started to the house on an errand. He was but a few steps from the house when he fell to the ground. Frank and Charley ran to him, but he was dead when they got there. A stroke of apoplexy had caused his sudden death.

Mr. Carson had lived here for a long time and every one knew him, and when the news of his death spread over the town people could hardly realize it, as many had seen him on the street that day.

Funeral services were held Wednesday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. W/ Swaim, conducted by Revs. Brown and Bussey. Rev. H. W. Browning delivered the funeral address. The many old friends and acquaintances of Mr. Carson were there to pay their respects to the man they had known so long. After the services at the house the body was laid to rest in the Centralia cemetery.

J. B. Carson was born September 24, 1826, in Surrey county, North Carolina, and was nearly one month over 83 years of age at the time of his death.

At about the age of 22 years he moved to Hyland county, Ohio, where he was united in marriage to Sarah J. Grove July 31, 1851. This union resulted in nine children, five boys and four girls. Two boys and two girls are still living. Susan, the oldest girl, resides in Missouri, and Kit, the youngest boy in Netawaka, Kansas. Frank and Myrtle live in Centralia, and are well known by our people.

After living sometime [sic] in Ohio Mr. Carson removed to Kocono [sic], Ind. From Indiana he came to Missouri in 1863, and from Missouri he came to Kansas in 1886 where he lived among his old friends and acquaintances until the day of his death. During the Civil war Mr. Carson belonged to the Missouri Militia, and was known as a brave and loyal man.

A very sad accident happened at Whitesville Sunday about 11:30 a.m., at the home of Homer Barnum Carter, who was burned by a coal oil explosion so badly that he died at 5 p.m., and his wife is not expected to live. Barnum poured from a three-gallon can coal oil to revive a fire he had previously kindled to prepare dinner. The fire suddenly blazed up, exploding the oil and bursting the can, scattering burning oil over Barnum and his wife, who was peeling potatoes, and the entire kitchen. She ran to help him and then both ran into the yard, where they rolled in the grass and mud puddles to extinguish the fire and to keep the blaze from their faces. From the church nearby there was soon a crowd came to them, but too late, for Barnum's flesh all over his body was cooked. His face was not recognizable. The physicians say Mrs. Carter cannot live. She is in a semi-conscious state with no pulse. Mrs. Carter was formerly Miss Myrtle Walker, daughter of Joe Walker and wife, of Savannah. She taught school and was married about eighteen months ago. Their baby was lying in the adjoining room uninjured.

Miss Fannie Walker, a sister of Mrs. Carter, who was up from Savannah visiting her, was slightly burned about the face. 'Buck' Walker was also in the house at the time, but was not quick enough to do anything for the burning ones. The house was saved, but the kitchen was badly damaged.

Mr. Carter was buried Monday, the funeral being conducted by Rev. Seat. He leaves a wife and baby, father, mother, two brothers, three sisters, and a host of friends to mourn. This is surely a lesson of how careful one should handle coal oil around a fire.

By the explosion of a can of oil while lighting a fire last Sunday morning, Homer Carter was so badly burned that he died a few hours later at his home in Whitesville.

Mrs. Carter was also badly burned while trying to help put out the fire which had enveloped her husband, and her fifteen year old sister who lives here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walker, was also severely burned. The house in which the accident occurred was saved from burning by efforts of the neighbors.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter had been married less than two years and had one child. Mr. Carter was employed as a clerk in W. H. Bayne & Co's store at Whitesville.

A terrible heartrending accident occurred to Homer Carter and wife at Whitesville, 12 miles northeast of this city, at about 11:30 Sunday morning last, in which Mr. Carter lost his life and as we go to press the wife is still alive but in rather a precarious condition.

From what we can learn Mrs. Carter was standing by a table in the kitchen near the cook stove preparing some vegetables for dinner, and the wood in the stove being green and not burning well, her husband picked up their three gallon coal oil can, which was full, and commenced pouring the oil on the wood. The oil at once ignited, the bottom of the can was blown out and the burning oil was scattered in all directions over the room, and besides firing the room also set fire to the clothing of Mr. and Mrs. Carter. The two with their clothing in flames ran north into the sitting room where their eleven months old baby was in charge of Fannie Walker, a sister of Mrs. Carter. The mother called to the sister to hurry out with the baby. The husband and wife ran west into a bed room, thence back south through the bed room into the yard adjoining the kitchen on the west. A door led direct from the kitchen into the yard within a few feet from where they stood when the accident occurred.

Harden Walker, a brother of Mrs. Carter, was in the yard and when he saw them run from the house in flames he rushed in the house, grabbed some bed clothes and overtook his sister about twenty feet from the door, threw her down and smothered out the fire with the bed clothes. The husband with his clothing in flames ran about fifty feet to the well, where he knew there was a half barrel filled with water. When he reached the well he laid down in a puddle of water and Charles Beattie, Ewing Clark, Cleo White and little Joe Walker, his brother-in-law, who had followed him, threw water over him and the boys also took their coats and smothered out the flames. Mr. Carter told the boys that it was all over with him but to run and save Myrtle, his wife.

Badly burned as Mr. Carter was he got up and walked about a block to the residence of his brother-in-law, Edward Younger, where he was put to bed and a physician called. His entire body was horribly burned, but his nerves appeared deadened and he suffered but little pain and was conscious until his death, which occurred at five o'clock Sunday evening.

His wife was carried to the Younger residence where she is now confined to bed, and we understand that her bodily sufferings are not intense. Her body is badly burned from the hips down, her arms and neck burned and a portion of hair burned from her head. A corset which she wore protected that portion of her body from injury.

The house being near the church Claud Pollard who was standing in front of the church saw them come from the house enveloped in flames and heard their cry for help. He sounded the alarm and the people ran from the church and extinguished the fire in the house, the furniture in the kitchen being badly damaged.

Mr. Carter, who is better known throughout the county by his nickname 'Barnum,' was at the time of his death an employe in the store of W. H. Bayne & Company at Whitesville. Several years ago he carried the mail between Rea and Flag Springs. He was 27 years of age and his parents, two brothers and three sisters and his wife and baby survive him. His remains were interred in the cemetery at Whitesville Monday afternoon.

Some years ago when Joseph M. Walker and family were living in Plattsburg, this state, their little son, Frank, about three years old, sit [sic] on a pan of boiling water, which was on the floor, and was so badly scalded that he died.

Homer Carter and wife, of Whitesville, Andrew county, were so severely burned January 28, 1906, that Mr. Carter is dead and Mrs. Carter is not expected to live. Mrs. Carter attempted to start a fire in the kitchen stove by pouring the oil from a three gallon can. Mr. Carter who was near was so seriously burned that he died in terrible agony a few hours after the accident. A 15-year-old sister of Mrs. Carter, in an adjoining room, rushed in and by heroic exertion put out the fire which was burning the house and saved the injured from incineration. *She is in Heaven, how sweet the phrase,
Yet it's a high import, who can tell?
Here like a glimmering beam it plays,
Of light, of joy ineffable.
She is in Heaven, to for a link
Between thy heart and worlds unseen,
Faith's holier virtue may be seen.
She is in heaven, that thou, like her,
May'st shine with a pure stedfast [sic] light;
Attract their eyes whose footsteps err,
And guide their wandering feet aright.
She is in heaven, though still unseen,
With her's [sic], thy notes of praise may blend,
On the same rock thy soul may lean,
To the same centre hourly tend.*

Mrs. R. S. Neathery passed to the great beyond Sunday morning at her home on Christian Ridge where she had lived since 1857, one of the county's beloved gentle-women.

Mrs. Neathery was devout in the precepts of true womanhood and true neighborliness, and to her generation, those of her kind, belong the saving grace, the ideals for the growth of the generation following. To her and her kind Savannah owes a great indebtedness. The example and precepts in true womanliness by women like Mrs. Neathery is the foundation on which all civilization is built.

Leroy D. Carter died at his home, near the Cumberland Ridge church, four and a half miles south of this city at eight o'clock Monday night, January 28, of dropsy, after a lingering illness of some months.

He was born in Chester District, South Carolina, January 27, 1826, and came with his parents to St. Joseph in 1840. For a number of years he was engaged in the printing business in that city, being connected with the publication of The Adventurer, the first newspaper published in St. Joseph and afterwards with the Gazette.

The deceased was married on the 8th of June, 1849, to Miss Sarah Ann Alward, of Buchanan county, and in 1850 they moved to Savannah. In 1851 Mr. Carter and Charles F. Holly started in this city a Benton democratic paper which they named the Savannah Sentinel and continued the publication for several years and then sold the paper which was subsequently discontinued.

In the fall of 1856 Mr. Carter, C. F. Holly and Daniel VanBuskirk started the Northwest Democrat, which was published under their management for a period of about two years and then sold to Messrs. Welch and Hal, who continued the publication until 1861, when the office was seized and confiscated by a detachment of Federal troops. Mr. Carter then worked at the printing business until 1878, when he moved to the present home and engaged in farming.

In 1874 the Grange became a power in this county and nominated a county ticket in opposition to the republican ticket and selected Mr. Carter as their candidate for sheriff. He was elected to that office in company with the late John Peter Altgeld, who was elected prosecuting attorney on the same ticket and was afterwards governor of the state of Illinois.

Sheriff Carter was a popular, competent and conscientious officer, and after the expiration of his term moved back to his farm, where he has since resided, his wife dying in January 1899. He is the father of six children living, Dr. W. W. Carter and Mrs. E. H. Venard, of Wathena, Kansas, Mrs. M. Hale and Mrs. Robert Archdekin, of this county, and F. M. and John Carter who are living on the home place. He also leaves two sisters, Mrs. O. U. Gilkerson and Mrs. R. S. Nethery of this city.

The deceased was a member of the M. E. church, South, and was an honorable upright citizen and held in high esteem by all who knew him. The remains were interred in the cemetery at the Cumberland Ridge church.

Mrs. Maggie Mack (nee Carter) was born and educated in St. Joseph, where she was married to J. William Mack. They moved to Savannah about five years ago, where they have since resided. Two children were born of the marriage, both of whom died in infancy.

Those who saw Mrs. Mack five months ago, a lady of prepossessing appearance and the very picture of health, can scarcely realize her death by consumption in so short a time. But death recognizes no limitations, conditions or circumstances in its relentless warfare upon life.

*'Leaves have their time to fall and flowers to wither at the north wind's breath,
But Death! Thou hast all seasons for thine own, oh Death.'*

Mrs. Mack was a true and faithful wife, and worthy of every commendation.

Mary Carter died at her residence in Savannah, Mo., December 31, 1885, in the triumph of a living faith in Jesus the Christ.

In her own words: 'I have lived 81 years, 1 month and 12 days in this world. I have lived 45 years in the M. E. Church, South. I have trusted with all my heart and soul, all these years, in Jesus my Savior, and I now, in full absolute faith in Jesus, yield up my spirit to God who gave it, and lay my body down to rest and sleep in the grave until the resurrection morning.' What grand words in the mouth of one of God's dying saints! There is a wide difference between a man's lying down and dying like an ox, and triumphing grandly over death, as did this precious saint of God. No man dying without God and without hope ever uttered such language as the above. She did not wonder at an old wicked prophet, when beholding the triumphant death of some of God's saints, exclaiming out of the fullness of his soul, 'Let me die the death of the righteous, and let my last end be like his!' This saint of God requested that the congregation sing that grand old hymn:

*O for a thousand tongues to sing
My Great Redeemer's praise,
The glories of my God and King,

She also requested that her funeral be preached from the following text, 1 Thess., 4:13-18; 'But I would not have you be ignorant, brethren, concerning them which are asleep, that ye sorrow not, even as others which have no hope. For if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, even so them also which sleep in Jesus will God bring with him. For this we say unto you by the word of the Lord, that we which are alive and remain unto the coming of the Lord shall not prevent them which are asleep. For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel and with the trump of God; and the dead in Christ shall rise first; then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air; and so shall we ever be with the Lord. Wherefore comfort one another with these words.'

Death has again entered our midst and claims for its victim, little Mat, the two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Carter, who died March 1, 1893.

*Today we cut the frozen sod
With trembling hands asunder,
And lay this well beloved of God,
Our dear dead baby under.
Oh hearts that ache and ache afresh!
Oh tears too blindly raining,
Our hearts are weak, yet being flesh
Too strong for our restraining.*

*Sleep, darling sleep, cold rain shall steep
Thy little turf made dwelling,
Thou wilt not know, so far below,
What winds or storms are swelling;
And birds shall sing in the warm spring,
And flowers bloom about thee,
Thou wilt not heed them Mat, but oh!
The loneliness without thee.*

*Father we will be comforted,
Thou wast the gracious giver,
We yield him up not dead, not deat,
To dwell with thee forever.
Take thou our child, ours for a day,
Thing with the ages blossom,
This little shining head we lay
In the Redeemer's bosom.*

In the church-yard lonely, underneath a little mound,
There his lifeless little body reposes in the ground.
His little spirit has gone to a brighter world of bliss,
From which he'll ne'er return to a carnal world like this.

The funeral of Mrs. C. C. Spicer took place at Fillmore yesterday afternoon at the late residence, conducted by her pastor, Rev. L. L. Smith, and the remains were placed in the vault in the Fillmore cemetery beside that of her husband.

She was the best beloved woman of Fillmore and beside that she was the heaviest property owner, the wealthiest person in the county, the estate being valued at $500,000. The assessment books show that she had 2,807 acres in Andrew county and 320 in Holt county besides city property in Fillmore and Savannah and bank stock. Her will is in the hands of Booher and Williams at Savannah,

She passed away quietly and peacefully from old age at her home on the afternoon of July 21, at the age of eighty years, three months and fourteen days. Her sister Mrs. Roxanna Criddle, who has made her home with her for several years, was with her. Since Mrs. Spicer was eighteen years old she was a devoted member of the Methodist church and was one of the early members of the church at Fillmore.

Her maiden name was Caroline Carver and she was born in Chautauqua county, New York, in 1833, and she was married in 1856 to Dr. C. W. Spicer and they moved to Janesville, Wis. Dr. and Mrs. Spicer started from their home in Janesville in May, 1859, for Pike's Peak for gold and when Mrs. Spicer grew reminiscent it was a joy to listen to the experiences of her life and especially of the time when she and the Doctor were young and beginning their life work. They traveled from Janesville in a covered wagon drawn by oxen and she said they had such a pleasant time. The weather was generally good and they stopped at Cedar Rapids and Omaha and made friends and visited with the people. According to her description these towns were unique and a few straggling houses at that time. At Omaha they were told such discouraging stories about crossing the plains that they came on down the river and stopped about [a few words illegible] at Round Prairie and ... impressed them greatly. They had friends here and decided to remain and moved into a one room log house and had fifty cents in money and a few months' provisions. Dr. Spicer graduated from the New York Medical College the same year that he went to Wisconsin with his bride and after coming to Fillmore he was until his death in August, 1896, a successful and beloved physician of this county. Mrs. Spicer was frugal and helped him in many ways and he was an extraordinary financier. During the many years he was postmaster at Fillmore she assisted him. She inherited a few hundred which was wisely invested and their estate has been almost for the past twenty years the largest held by any one person in the county.

Mrs. Spicer was always one of those gentle, loving, quiet, noble women, whose presence in any community is one of its greatest blessings. She was ever judicious and very generous, in every worthy cause, always insisting upon donations and kindnesses being in the way of a 'secret to the left hand' and has lived quietly, especially since the death of the Doctor.

Dr. C. W. Spicer, Jr., one of the four sons of the Doctor's brother Charles, who is yet living at Fillmore at the age of eighty-six years, has assisted Mrs. Spicer in the care of the estate for the past fifteen years and in later years has had complete charge.

Lucy L. Carver was born in Morgan county, Ohio, October 14, 1852 and died at her home in Loveland, Colorado, October 22, 1918, at the age of 66 years 8 days.

Her father died in 1861 and a few years later she came with her mother and other members of the family to Missouri and located near Skidmore where she was united in marriage to Wesley Clark, October 24, 1869.

To them was [sic] born two daughters, Mrs. E. J. Bender of Berthoud, Colorado, and Mrs. W. A. Strickler of Skidmore, Mo.

For 33 years Mr. and Mrs. Clark lived on their farm east of Skidmore, where their two daughters grew to womanhood.

She was converted in 1868 and together with others they organized a Methodist church in the Valley school house. When Skidmore became a village, a church building was erected in town and tis class became the Skidmore Methodist Episcopal church.

She was an earnest and faithful worker in the church while living here, but after moving to Elmo in 1902 she was elected Sunday school superintendent and it was there, perhaps, that she did her most effective church work.

In 1908 they moved to Loveland, Colorado, which has since been their home.

For two years she had been in failing health and all was done that medicine and change of climate could do but to no avail.

The last weeks were weeks of patient suffering until death came as a sweet release and the spirit winged its way to the land where there is no more suffering or death.
